SIGNS OF THE TIMES

Thalia Presents "Lilies of the Field"

On February 16, 1973, Thalia presented "Lilies of the Field." The play portrayed the effect Homer Smith, a handyman, had on a group of German nuns struggling in the southwestern United States. Not only did he build a chapel for the nuns, but he also constructed a meaningful rapport among them. The cast included:

Singer .....	Steve Brown
Father Gomez .....	Phil Gregory
Homer Smith .....	Tom Lynch
Mother Maria Marthe .....	Liz O'Dell
Sister Elizabeth .....	Lee Young
Sister Gertrude .....	Jamie Warnick
Sister Agnes .....	Bev Bartow
Sister Albertine .....	Mary Matteson
Juanita .....	Connie McGinnis
Orville Livingston .....	Galen Loofbourrow

Carnival '73 . . . Here Comes the Sun

Neatness counts!

What's a nice girl like Connie doing in a place like this?

Let the sun shine in.

Beware of bearded beasts.

Is this the face of a criminal?

SDHS Welcomes Eva Schenk

This year's foreign exchange student, Eva Schenk, hails from Remscheid, West Germany, a city of about 136,000 people. From a family where both of her parents are doctors, and where she has an older and a younger sister, Eva has a wide variety of interests, notably swimming, skiing, traveling, reading, the outdoors, and music.

Here in the U.S., Eva lives with the Erlin Eakin family, with two of her five American sisters, Gayle, a senior, and Marianne, a sophomore, here at SDHS. When asked to describe some of her impressions of America, Eva replied: I'm really glad I got the chance to spend this year in the U.S. My host family, the Eakins, are wonderful people. Going to SDHS this year was very much fun. I enjoy getting to know all different kinds of people. I wish more students could participate in the AFS program to share the experience of living within another country.

I found American people to be very friendly and open-minded. I've made a lot of friends over here who I hope to see again. I also enjoyed the American food very much, such as brownies, chocolate chip cookies and milk shakes, which I am going to fix for my friends at home.

Staying over here, I think, has broadened my mind and made me realize that people all over the world are the same."

Eva's American parents, Mr. & Mrs. Erlin Eakin, and her sister Marianne.

Eva and Gayle: "Giddyap!"

Eva shows slides of her homeland.

Seniors entertain at Nursing Home.

"Leave me alone!"

It's a big, bad, world out there.

Take a Look Into the

Let's show some spirit!

"Hey guys, how do you like my new nose?"

"I missed my afternoon nap."

Mysterious World of Seniors

"Who, me?"

Life is so exciting.

Smile big and pretty!

Super Red does her thing.

"Care to step in my locker?"

"I can't bear to watch!"

"What's going on here?"

The look of victory.

Is he talking about me again?

Now, really!

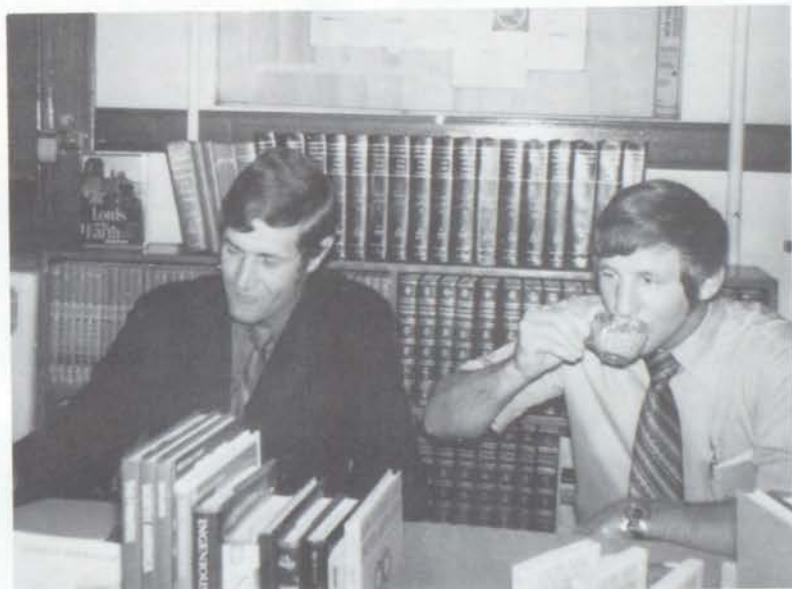

"How's it going, Chez?"

"Oh, here's another good one!"

Bottoms up!

Not again!?

"I could have danced all night."

"What's that?"

1909 Ground Breaking

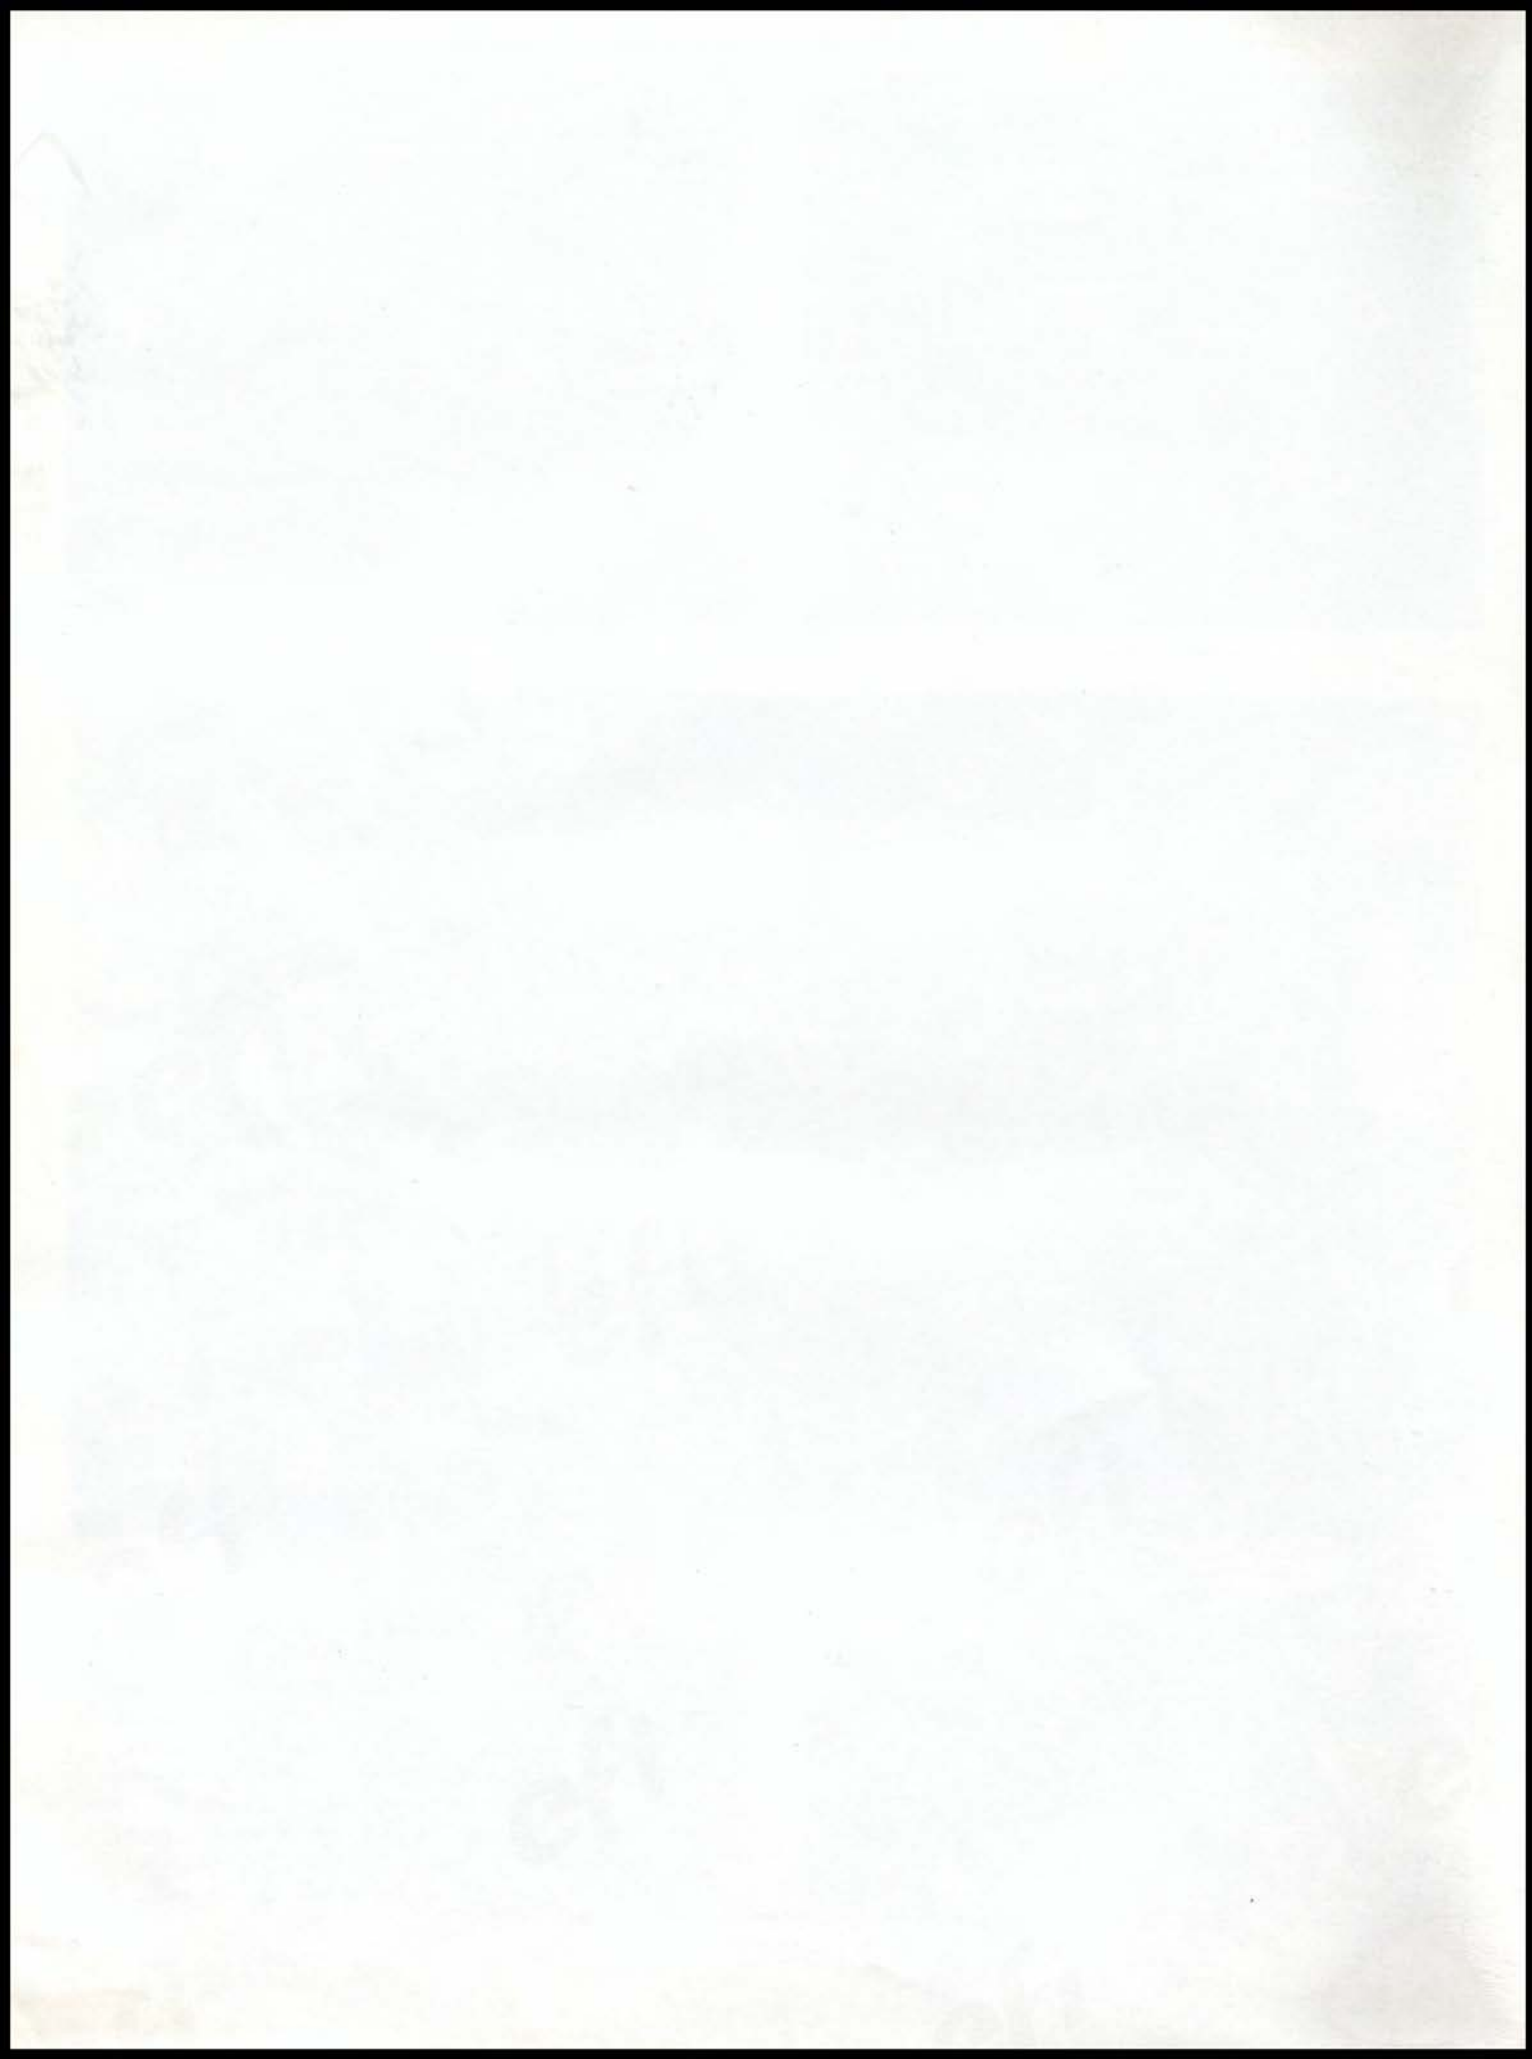

July, 1909, Excavation

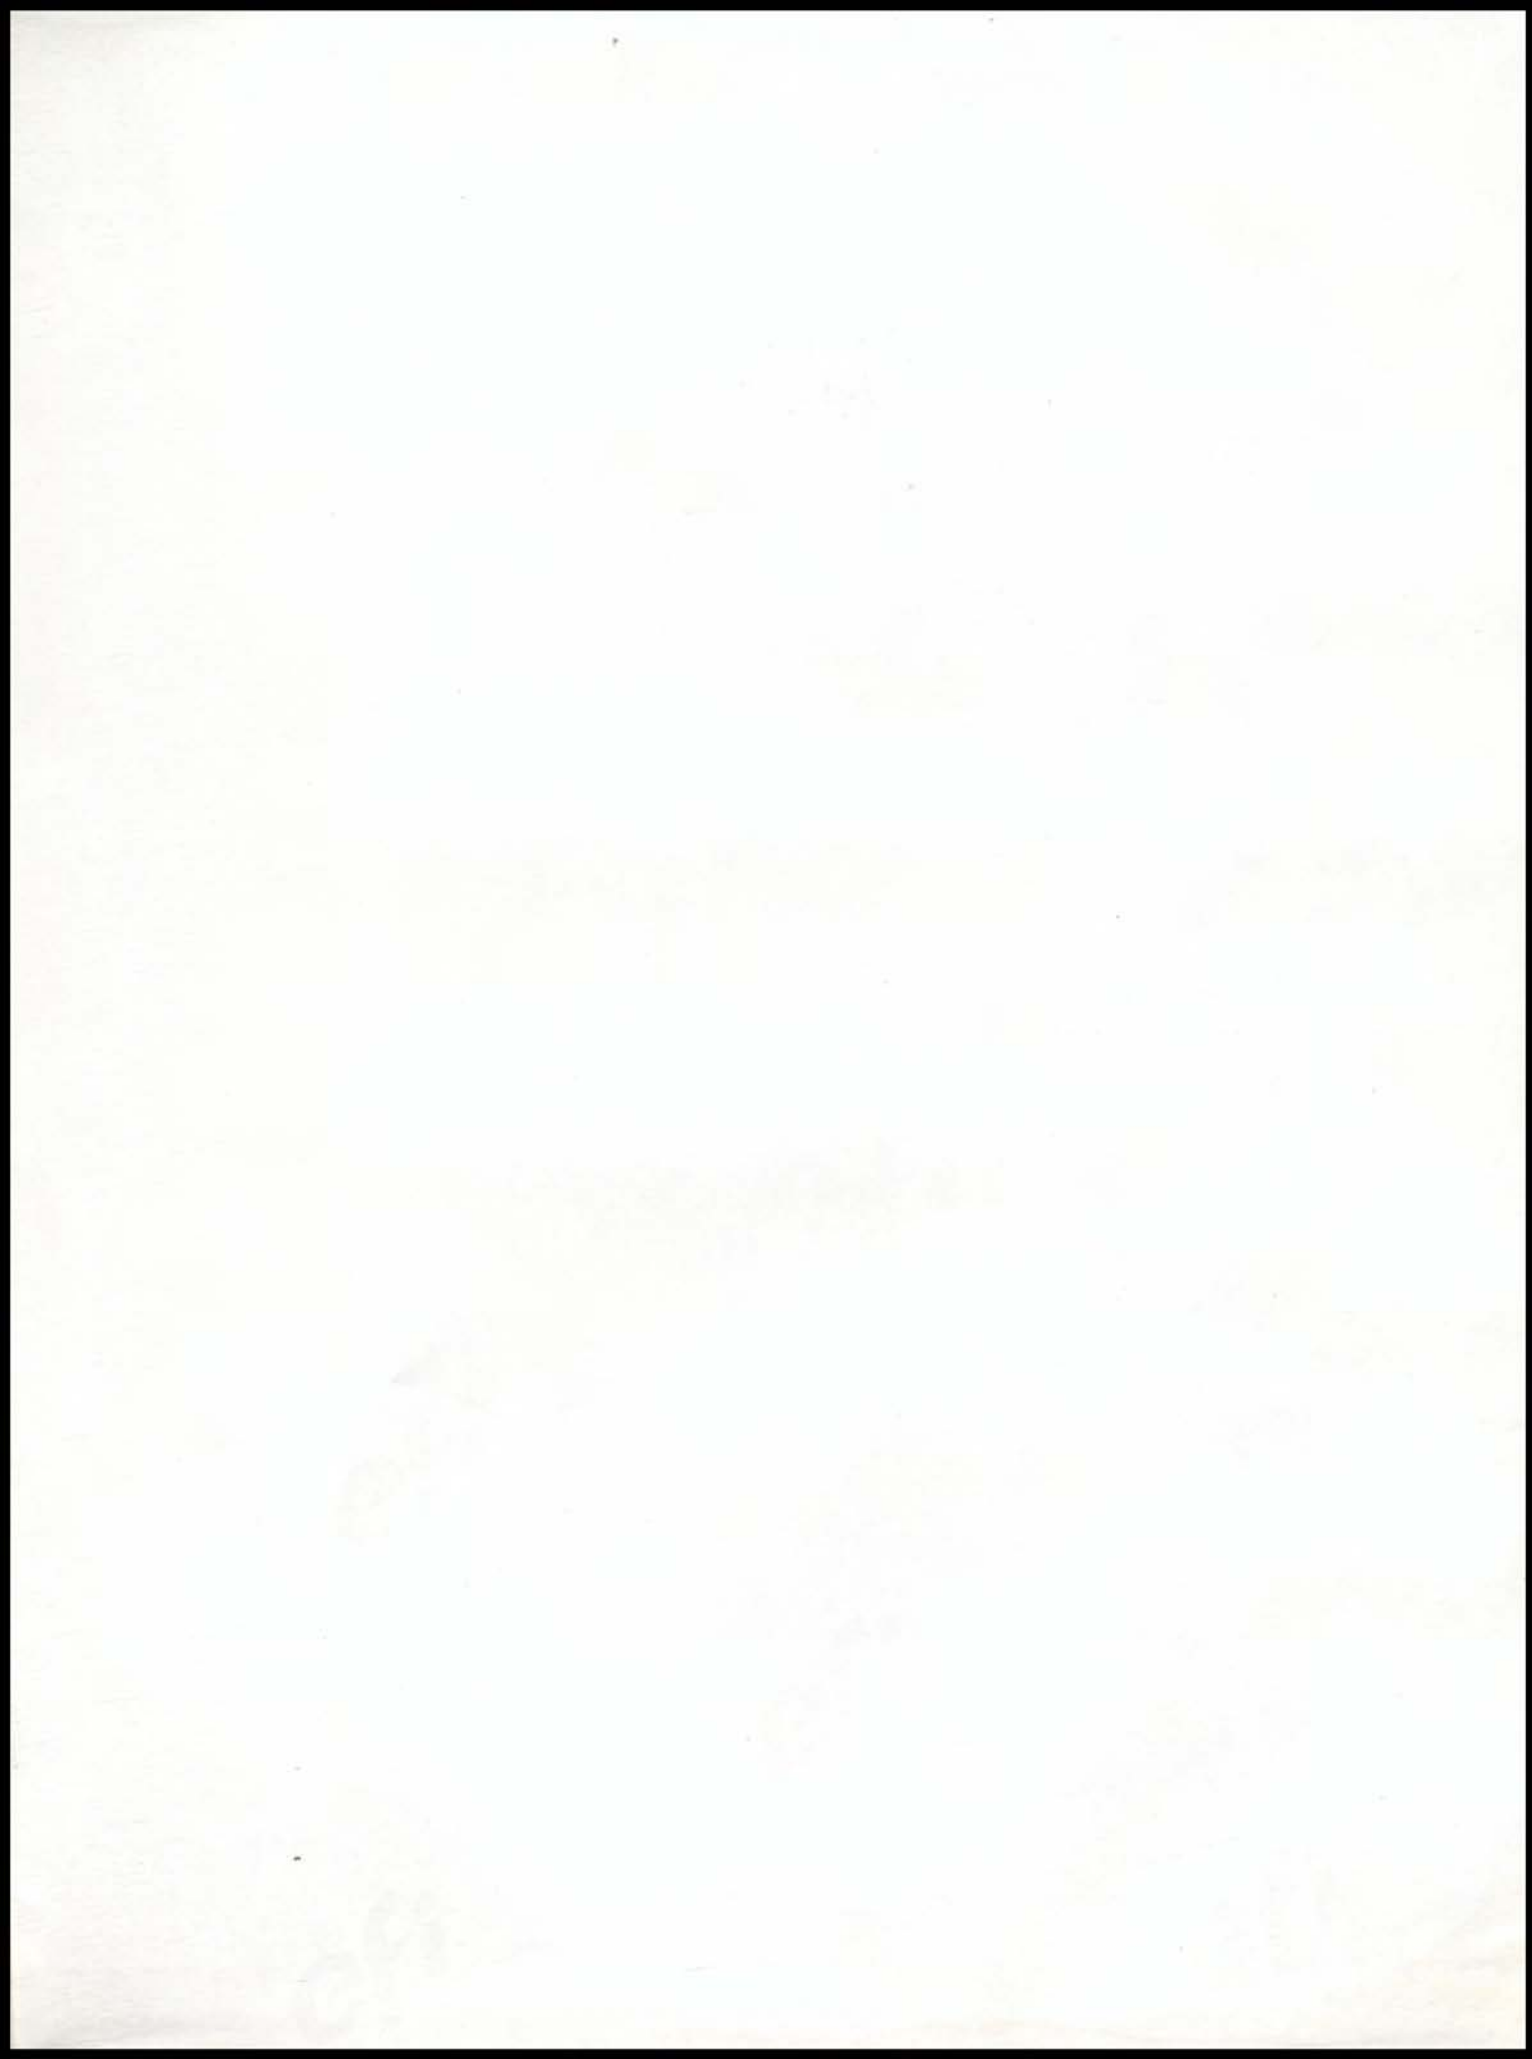

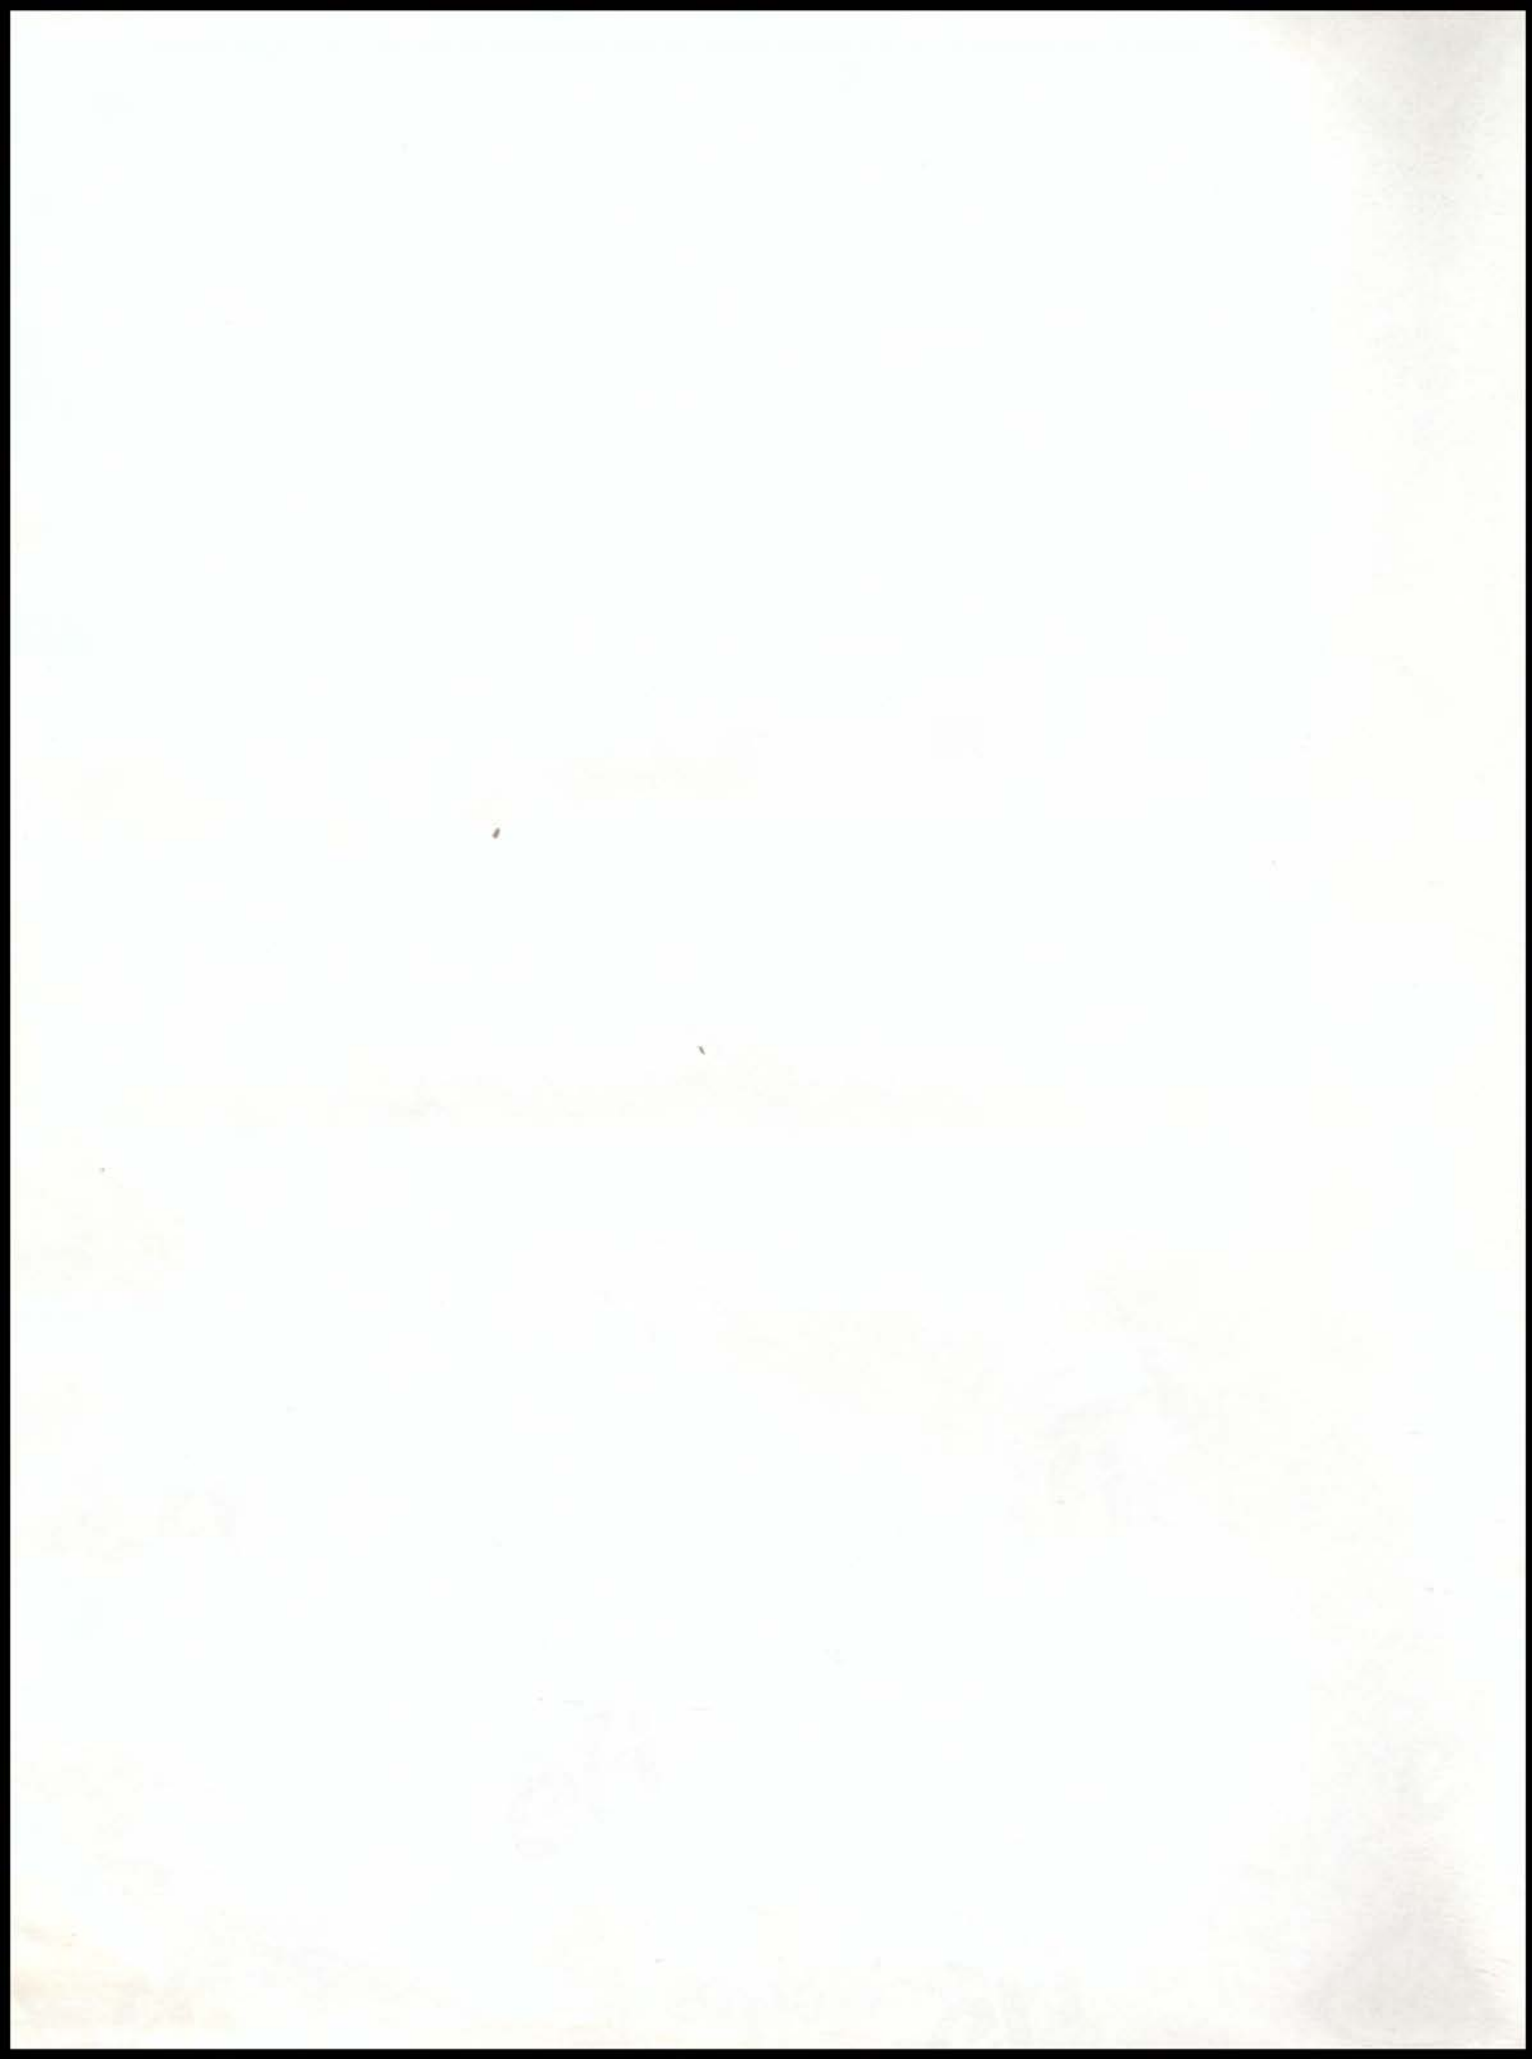

As you can see by these pictures, the times have changed. No longer are boys required to wear suits, nor girls required to wear floor-length dresses or skirts. We now have more modern equipment with which to work. Technology has replaced the trolley car tracks with three-lane streets and much noise. As we move from this school and are separated from our friends, let us greet the new by remembering that these are the "Signs of the Times."
