EISENHOWER HIGH SCHOOL, DECATUR, ILLINOIS

DEDICATION

In order that his untiring efforts, as an educator, civic leader, and friend of more than 1300 students, and his continued striving toward the improvement of an already well-known and well-regarded high school, shall not go unnoticed or unrewarded, we, the 1963 Pantherama staff, take great pleasure and pride in dedicating this, the 1963 Pantherama, to our friend and principal — Mr. Murvil Barnes.

THE PROPER

BALANCE

Balance is the state of equality and equilibrium of forces, actions and influences, and is the common property of all things complete, equal, and smooth running.

The proper functioning of a machine, an individual, a group, or a school is maintained by the proper balance of the total.

A school may be well known and admired for excellence in a particular endeavor. The whole school is often geared to that endeavor and may produce individuals lacking in total development.

We believe that at Eisenhower, however, there is maintained a productive, progressive, harmony among sports, curriculum, faculty, clubs, students, and activities which produces the Proper Balance, by which our school has achieved respect and a reputation for overall excellence.

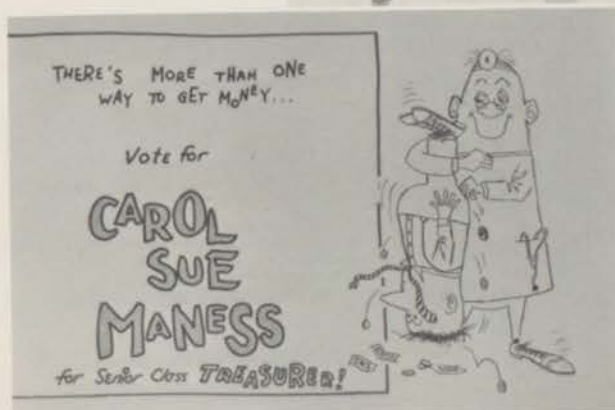

FEATURE THE FACULTY

Faculty members not only teach but counsel, coach, and guide students. Many of the faculty also advise and attend extracurricular activities.

SHOW THE STUDENTS

As we progress through the different classes, freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior, we find there is an equal amount of work, fun, events, and activities in each.

CONCERNING CURRICULUM . . .

Our school's curriculum provides a sound preparation for college or technical schools, vocations after high school, and the problems we will meet after graduation.

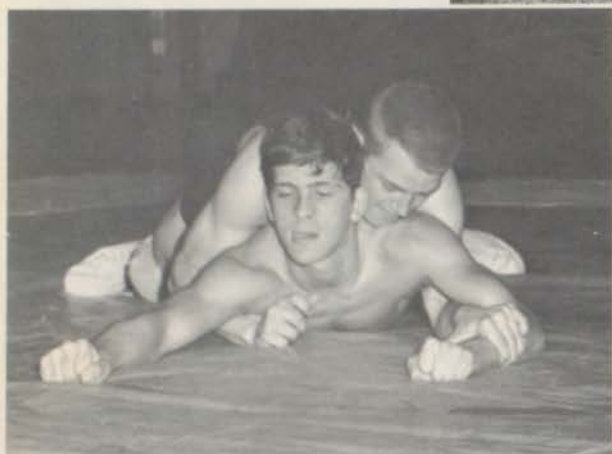

CHARACTERISTICS OF CLUBS

Clubs and organizations provide time, resources, and opportunities for those with specific interests. Time is also provided for councils, music groups, and honoraries.

SPOTLIGHT SPORTS

The sport's line-up at EHS includes football, basketball, wrestling, and the spring sports of baseball, track, tennis, and golf. Girls may participate in cheerleading and the Girls' Athletic Association.

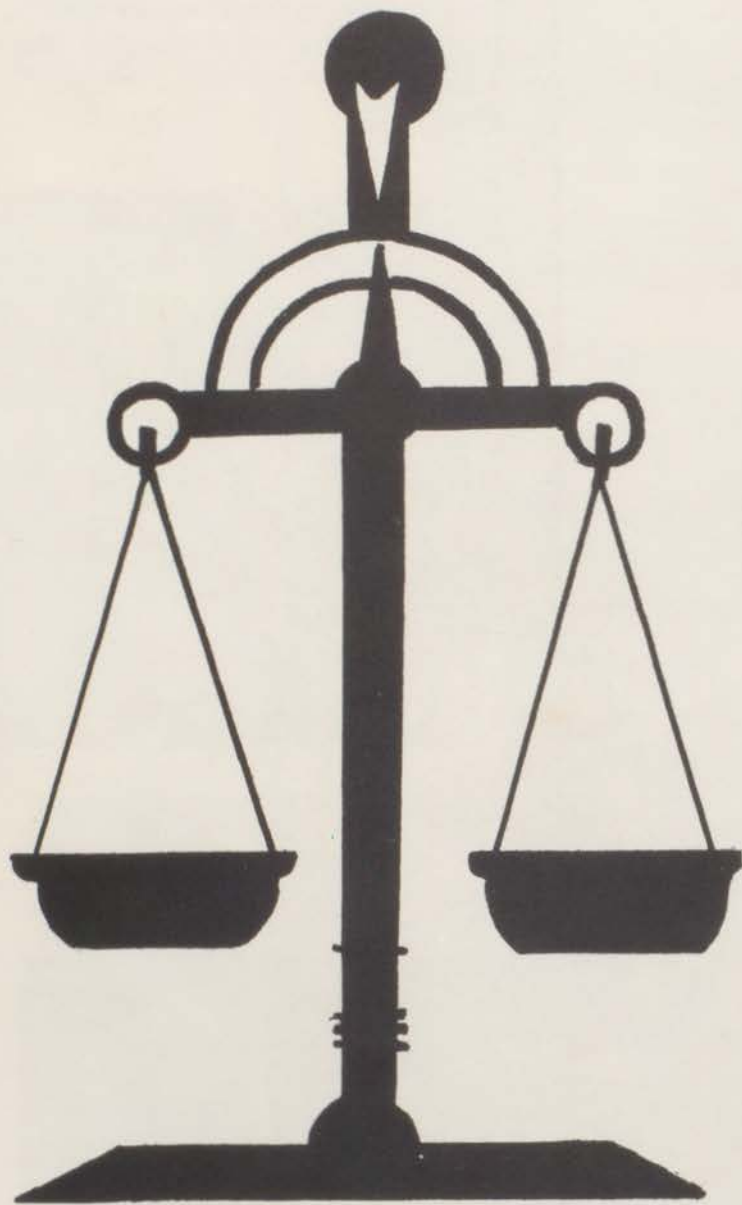

ACCENT ACTIVITIES

Assemblies, dances, plays, and all EHS activities provide opportunities for fun and a change of pace from the daily routine.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education of the Decatur School District is composed of seven members elected at large from the district. Members of the Board serve without pay and spend a considerable amount of time attending regular and special Board meetings. Many hours are spent planning policies, rules, and regulations to make the best education possible for students in Decatur.

NG FORCES . . .

Mrs. Henry Shonkwiler, Mrs. Loren Grabb, Mrs. Swarthout, Mr. Don Schwalbe, Mrs. Myers. Not pictured Mrs. McQueen.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

The P.T.A. strives to secure the highest advantages in physical, mental, and spiritual education. They try to bring the parents of EHS students closer together, always aiming to promote the welfare of youth in the home, school, church, and community.

ADMINISTRATORS MAINTAIN

Message from the Principal

We are living in age when change is the keynote of today and tomorrow. There is awareness that an educational program which affects the life work of students cannot be directed toward understanding, evaluating, directing, and adjusting to change. This requires creativity and an inquiring mind. We must be guided by a balance in choice of programs, activities and direction of choice so that no one area of interest overwhelms another, lest we lose the cycle of balance. May we always be alert to change but with reasonableness of thought.

Murvil Barnes

MR. MURVIL BARNES
Principal

MR. RALPH WESTERMAN
Assistant Principal

Mr. Westerman

Mr. Westerman, our assistant principal, is the man who plans each student's schedule of classes for the entire school. He takes care of the calendar of events and provides us with the weekly bulletin. Watching over the school very carefully, Mr. Westerman also makes certain no class is without a teacher; he hires substitutes.

THE BALANCE

MISS MARIE WEBER
Dean of Girls

Miss Weber

Miss Weber, our dean of girls, mainly handles the personal and social problems of girls, including discipline. She also helps initiate and coordinate organization and management of various school clubs. Later in the year much of her time is taken up as the Senior Class advisor; it is her job to plan all the phases of graduation including commencement and baccalaureate.

Mr. Rohrscheib

Mr. Rohrscheib, our dean of boys handles all the books and money with book rental. He keeps a watchful eye on the absentee list and is the major hindrance to students wishing to be truent. He handles many school discipline problems, acts as a consultant for the problems of boys, and serves as a guidance counselor.

CURRICULUM CURRICULUM

ENGLISH EMPHASIZES EXPRESSION

ENGLISH

The English department seeks to teach students to achieve a clear and effective style of speaking and writing, to recognize and find inspiration in the expression of great literature, and to grow in understanding of the people and the world around them.

Freshmen concentrate on writing good paragraphs, recognizing parts of speech, and reading short stories, plays, and poems which stimulate thinking about themselves, the American way, and the beauty of the imagination.

Memorizing Mark Antony's funeral oration over Caesar and watching miserly Silas Marner rejoin the human race are the high points of the sophomore year.

In the junior year, students read literature which closely relates to American history. They continue writing themes, and they do a great deal of individual reading in the library. Seniors survey English literature from Chaucer to Eliot reading Hamlet or MacBeth. They are also given the opportunity to pursue an individual interest by doing extensive research and organizing and writing a research paper.

FOREIGN FACTS AND FABLES

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

One of the most serious problems facing our modern world is a lack of communication. Realizing this, our language department now offers third and fourth year courses. Eisenhower also offers our students excellent first and second year courses in Latin, Spanish, French and German.

Our French classes bring the sweet sounds of Paris within our walls. Our Spanish classes travel through the ancient and romantic land of Spain, while our Latin classes help Caesar wage the Gallic war. Our German classes study short-stories in German Literature.

This year, our Foreign Language department is making great advances with the use of the new Language Laboratory.

HISTORY, HAVANNA, AND THE HIMALAYS

SOCIAL STUDIES

Ponytail hairdos originated with Egyptian women and an English Earl invented the sandwich. These are only two of the many interesting facts one may learn in social studies.

A student at Eisenhower is required to take three years of social studies. In the freshman year, he must take economic geography in which he studies the climate and major crops of different countries.

In his sophomore year he is required to take world history. In this class he learns about the governments of many different countries throughout the world.

When he becomes a junior, he takes American history. In this course he learns the political, economic, and cultural history of the United States.

As a senior, the Eisenhower student may elect to take social or government problems. He delves into different problems in every day life: mental disturbance, race and cultural conflict, and political problems.

IMAGES, INSECTS, AND INFINITY

SCIENCE

Science classes gives the student a better understanding of the ways of living things and enriches his knowledge of this complex age of science. Classes in science also give students opportunity to learn first-hand by performing experiments and observing in laboratories to supplant the information gained from textbooks and lectures.

In biology the student tries to understand his biological environment and himself. He studies the gamet of life from algae to man. Physical science treats briefly many modern industries and products. An advanced course in physics deals with machines, measurements, and various forms of energy, heat, light, sound, magnetism, and electricity. Chemistry is concerned with atoms, molecules, and the nature of matter elements, and compounds.

The science department at Eisenhower strives to prepare students for careers in science and to make students aware of the role of science in every day life.

MATH-MEASUREMENTS AND MANIPULATIONS

MATHEMATICS

Mathematics has become extremely important in today's scientific world. Because math is one of the international languages, people all over the world can understand each other's work without a great deal of complication. At Eisenhower a great variety of courses ranging from general math courses to courses that teach only one specific phase of mathematics, these prepare a student for a specific field after high school.

The courses taught here include General Math, Algebra, Plane and Solid Geometry, Trigonometry, and College Algebra.

OFFICES AND OCCUPATIONS

BUSINESS

The business department at Eisenhower offers a wide range of courses to prepare students for employment in the business world. Freshman are offered basic business, and introductory courses to help them carry on effectively the daily business activities centered around the home and to help them participate wisely in the business life of the community and the world.

Typing, shorthand, and transcription, and bookkeeping are courses offered to upperclassmen to prepare them for specific secretarial or clerical positions.

Seniors may elect to take business law, office practices, or office occupations, which combines study with actual secretarial experience. The business department hopes to make socially competent citizens by preparing students for employment, establishing higher ethical standards, and developing desirable personal and social qualities.

PLANNING, PLIERS, AND PINS

Industrial Education

Our Industrial Education teachers are faced with a huge task. New buildings are erected each day, new furniture is needed to fill these buildings, and the buildings have to be wired with electricity. These are just a few of the tasks students learn in industrial education classes.

Eisenhower's Industrial Education department is unique in that this year it offers a course in electronics. Our school is one of the few high schools in the state to be equipped to offer such a course. In addition to the electronics course Eisenhower students can elect to take drafting courses, auto mechanics, woodworking, and other shop courses.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Students wandering around Eisenhower can always smell the luscious aromas coming from the homemaking rooms. Girls enrolled in foods classes cook everything from cookies and candy to roast turkey with all the trimmings.

Besides cooking, the Eisenhower Home Economics department offers sewing, family living, home nursing, and home planning.

SOCCER, SQUARE DANCE, AND SOFTBALL

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A rousing game of volleyball breaks into the routine of the day and provides an outlet for pent up emotions. A lecture on health practices renews awareness of the importance of physical cleanliness and mental health. Sit-ups and other individual exercises tone muscles and insure physical fitness.

Physical education at Eisenhower is designed for several different reasons. Among the most important reasons is keeping with the national interest of our youth. In accord with the President's plea for physical fitness, Eisenhower High School provides each student with one period a day for physical activity in the gym or outside.

Individual improvement of physical strength and endurance is obtained through our program of various activities. Students are taught individual exercises, team sports, and recreational games. The most important function of the P.E. class, however, is to add an hour of fun and relaxation to the daily routine of school.

TRUMPETS, TURPENTINE AND TRA-LA-LA.

FINE ARTS

Music and art are considered "fine arts." Our art and music students not only develop their creative ability, but also the ability to appreciate the arts. If an art student sees a piece of copper, he should be able to visualize what could be created from it; when he sees a painting, he should be able to look at it objectively. Likewise, music students learn to appreciate different forms of music such as jazz, classical, and folk music.

Our Music department encourages students to participate in both vocal and instrumental activities. "A"

Choir, Tiptones, Troubadors, Advanced Girls' Choir, "B" Choir, Freshman Mixed Choir, Freshman Girls' Choir, "A" Band, Orchestra, and "B" Band are offered for credit as well as enjoyment.

Our art department offers courses in drawing, painting, print making, applied design, general design, sculpture, lettering, and crafts.

USEFUL AND UNDERSTANDING

Special Services

The importance of the work done by our office staff, counselors, driving training teachers and the library staff, is not always realized by the students.

Our Eisenhower counselors are important to each of us. They are always available to help us with our problems concerning grades, courses of study, information about colleges, and future jobs. In spite of their busy schedules, each counselor seems to find the time to give each student specific attention concerning his particular problem.

Eisenhower also enjoys the services of Mr. Hanks, our special education teacher, Miss Matthews, our school nurse and our driver's training teachers. Those teachers have nerves of steel and hearts of gold.

Our library is a center of searching, learning, and pleasure. Thanks to our efficient library staff, pamphlets, newspapers, magazines, reference books, encyclopedias, and books for pleasure are always at our disposal.

THE TWO "C's"

The school cafeteria cooks arrive at school each morning about the same time that the students do. Their main duty is to prepare each day's menu which is previously planned by Mrs. Edith Hunter.

All students are aware of the meticulous care that the custodians give to our buildings. Besides changing lights, sweeping halls and classrooms, they also have to keep the gym floor in shape which is a difficult task in itself.

Council Hosts Conventions

At the District Convention, Eisenhower's Pam Orton was elected secretary for the coming year. Darlene Harmer was vice-president this year, and the previous year, Bill Uhler was President. Anyone for Treasurer?

The student council is the legislative body of the students. This group meets once a week at the designated room and hour. Here matters are discussed and reports are given which representatives take back to their homerooms.

This year our student council was host to the Champaign District Student Convention held at Eisenhower, and the state convention held in Chicago in April. Theme of the district convention was "Responsibility . . . Ours?" Secretaries to the two conventions were Gary Schwandt and Mike Kush.

The student council sponsors homecoming, dances, assemblies, student government day, the all-school carnival, and the rec-room. It is through the student council that our AFS exchange student program is possible.

This year's homecoming was marked by an unusual number of excellent floats. The parade sponsored by Student Council added to the success of Homecoming.

Students Recognized for Academic Achievement

The Dwight Eisenhower Chapter of the National Honor Society is a select group of high school students who have an outstanding scholastic record as well as service and leadership qualities.

Membership in our chapter is based on Scholarship, Character, Leadership and Service. Sophomores with 4.9 average are admitted to probationary membership. Juniors are required to have a 4.7 average while seniors are accepted on a 4.5 average.

Officers of this organization are Patrick McLoughlin, President; Grant Canfield, Vice-President; Kathy Dianne Peck, Secretary; Carol Sue Maness, Treasurer; and Thomas Ford, Historian. The advisors are Miss Bower, Mr. W. Davis, Mrs. Corey, Miss Minto, Mr. Foster, and Mr. Barnes.

Meetings are held the first Thursday of every month.

COIN CLUB

The Eisenhower High School Coin Club is interested in learning about the hobby of numismatics. At the meetings of the club, each member has a chance to tell about the coins he owns. Occasionally the meetings take the form of "quiz sessions," and each member has the chance to prove his knowledge of the hobby. As a group they also make up displays of unusual coins for display at coin shows in the area.

TIPTONES LEAD VOCAL GROUPS

Tiptones entertain at Homecoming Assembly.

"The cream of the crop!" These are the words Mr. Leman uses to describe the Tiptones. This ensemble, which is made up of members auditioned from "A" choir, practices every Tuesday and Thursday. At performances, the girls' bright smiling faces are seen atop brown velveteen dresses, and the boys can be found dressed in their smart brown corduroy suits. This stylish group can often be found making many meetings and assemblies more enjoyable with their singing.

Troubadours

The Troubadours, a mixed ensemble, has risen to new prominence under the direction of Mr. Leman. This group is unique because it is composed only of freshmen, who have had little experience in group singing. The Troubadours made many appearances throughout the year after their debut singing Christmas carols for our P.T.A. meeting.

Advanced Girls'

AH —! So, this is the choir with the voices of girls only. After singing until their lungs ache, heads ache, and eyes bulge, they get the best results singing before the student body for various assemblies and for other organizations having programs outside of school.

Mr. Leman says that the advanced girls' choir offers the best opportunity for fine singing because it is composed of the clear mature voices.

Thespians

The Thespians is an honorary club in which the new members have already made a major contribution to the performing arts here at Eisenhower High School. Members have worked a minimum of one hundred hours in some dramatic effort. Acting, building sets, applying make-up, selling tickets, creating publicity posters, designing costumes, and ushering are just a few of the ways these six students have gained membership.

Nationally, this group is known as Troupe No. 1781 of the National Thespian Society.

Panther Press Writes News

Fifteen times a year our Panther Press staff goes through a lot of hustling and fussing just to meet their deadlines for the sake of the whole student body. The Panther Press spends much time reading other school newspapers in order to develop new ideas to improve and publish better, and still more interesting papers. Also they attend a Newspaper Conference held at MacMurray College each year. There they study techniques of writing news stories, features and sports stories under leading journalists from Illinois and elsewhere. The alert members of Panther Press spend many hours keeping Eisenhower students abreast with the news and aware of student opinion.

Shutter Bugs Snap for Publications

The photography staff provides pictures for the Panther Press and the Pantherama. Without this staff, we would not have any pictorial record of the many occurrences around school. Many of the pictures of assemblies, dances, games, and everyday school activities, which appear in our publications, are developed and printed by members of this staff in the E.H.S. darkroom.

Editorial Staff Prepares Pictures, Copy, Layouts

Room 60, an object of curiosity for all passers-by, is the home of the Pantherama editorial staff. Through the door can be heard frantic typing, arguments, brainstorming and just plain fun.

Staff members are always confronted with major decisions — this company or that company, color or no color, theme or chaos, this design or that layout. Keeping secrets is the most difficult task for talkative staff members. Not all goes smoothly in room 60, however, as pictures are sometimes missing, copy is sometimes not written, names are often misspelled, and deadlines are always quickly approaching. Amid this confusion, the ten members of the Pantherama staff work toward a common goal — the planning and assembling of a tremendous yearbook.

Pantherama Business Staff Sells Subscriptions, Ads

All the financial details of the yearbook are taken care of by the members of the Pantherama business staff. Staff members sell advertisements to Decatur businesses in order to reduce the cost of the books. Later in the year, they sell the school pictures; and last, but not least, they sell the Pantherama.

Selling the yearbook involves poster-making, homeroom-visiting, and announcement-making.

Business staff members are responsible for many of the words of wisdom which drift over the P.A. system seventh hour: "Give me Pantherama, or give me death."

Without this devoted and hard-working staff the yearbook could not be produced.

OFFICE OCCUPATIONS

ROW 1: Nola Walker, Melinda Grider, Linda Augustine, Linda Clapp, Vicki Allen, Karen Camp. ROW 2: Miss Jackson, Norma Ellrick, Mrs. Rita Bliss, Midge McCain, Becky Kahler, Irene Stuke.

Typewriters clicking, machines humming, dictaphone dictating letters — these are just a few of the sounds one hears when he walks into the Office Occupations class. The main purpose of this class is to help the girls improve their proficiency in advanced typing and shorthand.

In the afternoons, the Office Occupations girls rush off — job-bound. They assume responsible secretarial positions for Decatur businesses. The girls have entertainment too. They go to O.O. conventions and to parties given by their sponsor, Miss Wilma Jackson. O.O. clubs can be found throughout the nation. Each year a convention is held with a representative from each club in the state attending. At this convention, the girls make new friends and learn more about becoming a successful secretary.

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS

Diversified Occupations is the organization for those students who are interested in learning methods of selling, merchandising, procedures of mark-up, and displaying of goods.

These students work in the morning and they return to school for classes in the afternoon. All of us students should have looked into this course, for we would have found it very, very interesting — they earn while they learn.

The purposes of the Diversified Occupations Club are as follows:

1. To prepare ourselves to take our places as mature and responsible citizens in our democracy.
2. To develop a deeper interest in Diversified Occupations and Industrial Education.
3. To provide opportunities for the development of leadership.
4. To encourage proper attitudes and appreciations toward our work, both in school and on the job.
5. To develop interests in other school activities.
6. To develop healthy and cooperative attitudes toward our employers and fellow-workers.

Nurses Helpers

Nurses helpers assist Mrs. Matthews with her duties in the nurses office. While carrying out the routine duties of typing, running errands, and helping with the tuberculosis skin tests, these girls learn about the nursing profession.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses of America is an organization of young ladies who plan to be nurses at hospitals such as St. Mary's, which is in the background of the picture. The members of Eisenhower's Future Nurses study different phases of nursing. To balance out their activities, they have a picnic each year and get together with other F.N.A. groups.

Future Teachers

Promoting interest in the teaching profession is the major purpose of the Lester J. Grant's Future Teachers of America Club. This club also provides us with student directories. Each year members of the club have a picnic, give a Christmas party for the foreign exchange students, and attend the State Future Teachers' Convention.

At regular meetings of the Future Teachers' Club, members discuss opportunities in the teaching field, watch movies, and hear speakers.

Office Workers

Office helpers learn about the intricate workings of the school by running errands for the office. These girls collect attendance slips, deliver call slips and messages, and act as runners for the administration, the faculty, and the secretaries. The girls have ample opportunity to learn about the behind the scene operation of the school. Without them much of the rapid communication between classes and the office would be reduced.

Learning to Help

The Future Homemakers of America learn skills which will be helpful in their role as a homemaker. Besides making useful articles and learning new techniques, the F. H. A. has parties, bake sales, and pizza sales. The Junior Red Cross helps others by presenting programs annually to the armed services and generally helping where help is needed.

IKETTES

Ikettes is a combination dance and drill team which provides entertainment at assemblies and during halftime at football and basketball games. This group, which not only provides entertainment but also furnishes an opportunity for girls who like to dance, is headed by Mrs. Carol Sue White.

Spelling out "Panthers," the Ikettes reflect Eisenhower's school spirit at the Homecoming Assembly.

VARSITY

Rebounding from a disastrous start, the '62 Panthers closed with a rush to record a winning 5-4 season. Early setbacks at the hands of both Jacksonville and Normal proved no deterrent as the Black and White proceeded to win 5 of its next 6 games, with a much-improved offensive, led by quarterback Lee Boyko and tackle Paul Shaw keynoting the drive. A season-ending loss to arch-rival MacArthur evened this series at two games each.

FOOTBALL

Highlights of the season were the tremendous story-book finish to defeat Griffin; the 4-game, mid-season winning streak; the homecoming upset over Bloomington; and perhaps the costly errors against the two fine city rivals, Stephen Decatur and MacArthur. It all added up to an exciting year with prospects even better for 1963.

SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL

In a remarkable reversal of form, Coach Innis' sophomore team, after having won only one game as freshmen, turned in a 7-2 record, capped with a season-ending win over MacArthur. Hard running backs and an excellent defensive group added up to one of the finest sophomore teams ever to represent Eisenhower. Varsity prospects are so numerous that the next two years look extremely bright. Losses to Champaign and Bloomington were more than balanced with wins over Decatur, Urbana, Charleston, Griffin, Danville, Lamphier, and MacArthur.

The Freshmen ended the season with a 4-3-1 — record. They lost the first 3 games but finished the season with a good come back. The line had good size and strength but were slow in developing. The club took nearly all season to fill all of the positions, but if they all stay together, they should have a good season next year.

At the time of this writing, the EHS sophomores are half way through the season with a 7-4 record. They are a large team, the tallest being 6'6" backed up with three team members over 6'3". This is one of the best sophomore teams that EHS has ever seen; two of this team made varsity. They work well at rebounding and score well also. In the next two years EHS should have one of the finest basketball teams in this area.

The true purpose of a sophomore team lies in the teaching of the fundamentals of basketball and also the learning of sportsmanship.

The Freshman Basketball team came through with the best record in five years of freshman competition at E.H.S. The success was due mainly to the fine coaching of Mr. Diller, the spirit of the team, the excellent cheerleaders, and the large attendance at the games.

Their season was highlighted by brilliant defensive and offensive play. Victories were the result of offensive spurts in the second half. Without the team's spirit of cooperation and high morale the second half scoring spurts would not have been possible. The freshmen have been successful in winning all intra-city games. They are especially proud of beating MacArthur for the first time in freshman competition. Eisenhower should watch these boys as potential state champions in a few years.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

“E” Stands for Effort, Enthusiasm

What would sports be without cheerleaders? Dull . . . possibly; unruly . . . probably. Few people stop to realize that the cheerleaders play a very important role in athletics. They provide leadership which creates and channels enthusiasm and school loyalty.

“Let’s give one big Fight” not only spurs the team to try harder, but it also unifies the spectators in support of the Panthers and gives the viewers a chance to participate constructively.

Our varsity cheerleaders carry out all these functions with pep and spirit.

I am a typical Eisenhower student. At 7:15 my mother enters my room to the tune of an alarm clock and tells me it's time to rise and shine. I rise, but my shine is more of a flicker. After Mom is sure I have my head, lunch money, hanky, and yo-yo, I head toward school.

I trudge into the school and stumble to the rec room where everyone is having a madly marvelous time. Some are dancing to the lovely lilting music of the jukebox, some are merely talking about girls, some are patronizing the coke machine, some are losing their nickles in the candy machine.

At 8:00 the bell rings and I hurry to my locker which resembles the "after"! scene of an explosion in a paper mache factory.

I dawdle around in the hall for a few minutes, and then slowly drift toward homeroom. At 8:10 another bell rings and everyone staggers to his feet for the raising of the flag.

During homeroom we hear announcements and fill out all sorts of fascinating little forms. Many of the forms seem a little dull, but they are livened up with a few catchy answers such as the one for the question "Are you male or female?" which was answered by a simple "Yes"!

Pat Stark plays the bugle each morning over the intercom system.

Isn't it normal to rush to lunch?

Finally lunch time has arrived. I run from the third hour to the cafeteria, go back and "walk it over again" pushing my way into line, receive my portion of the delicacies and sit down with a group of my classmates to dwell over the taste-tempting recipe.

Instead of going to the study hall, however, I go to the library to find a book for English. Among the large, ponderous, profound, and impressive volumes on the shelf, I find a 59 page book which I feel will be up to my ability.

The rest of the morning passes with no outstanding events with the exception of the spine tingling episode of the squeaking chalk in health class.

Salisbury Steak and mashed potatoes.

Mickey Bullock's usual class participation.

When I have finished lunch, I go up to the rec room to squander my time away twisting, talking and fooling around.

Hugh Patheal, Jo Ann Adams, and Grant Canfield take notes on today's earthworm.

My afternoon drags by and finally it's 3:46! We all wait anxiously for the bell to ring, but alas and alack, we must listen to the soul-stirring announcements over the public address system.

At 3:46 the ever-ringing bell tolls it's last hour. I rush to my locker for my coat and books; then sway to the main door where some organization is undoubtedly having a bake sale, pizza sale, or pencil sale. It is in this same hall that I spend the rest of my school day dropping books, picking books up, and waiting for a ride home.

... SO ENDS A TYPICAL DAY.

After Freshman Orientation and registration, the daily routine began to dominate. Those near windows found a change of pace from the class activities by watching the construction outside. The T.B. tests and individual pictures completed the requirements for beginning a new year.

T.B. tests were again given to brave, courageous EHS students.

Tests, Assemblies Alter the Routine

Following the J.A. assembly were weeks of campaigning for class offices. This was climaxed by speeches by all the candidates given before class meetings. SCAT, PSAT, CEEB, and ITED tests were given to innocent E.H.S. students, and last parents were frequently seen visiting our school.

Our first assembly, the Junior Achievement assembly, told of business experience to be gained from J.A. companies.

Group pictures of all clubs and organizations were taken for the Pantherama and an occasional pep rally coaxed everyone to attend the football games.

Ask Any Girl was presented on November 16 and 17th, by the Senior Class. Mrs. Giles directed the 3-act play. The lead part was presented by Martha Buckley, who played Meg Wheeler. She was ingenuously suited for her role; as were the other cast members. The lounge of the Madison Avenue Girls' Hotel was the main setting. The play was presented nicely and turned out to be a great success. It was not only the cast members who helped make the play a success, but there was also the help given by the other seniors. They did such work as building sets, lighting, and make-up.

"The women in our family have insisted upon marriage for ages!"

"One's not enough when it comes to Meg's sweetheart."

IT'S ALL OVER! THE 1963 PANTHERAMA HAS GONE TO PRESS

In producing this book we have thought, at times, that deadlines couldn't have been earlier, the school more unbalanced, or producing a yearbook more chaotic;

Such as trying to complete deadlines in a car on the way to the publishers, picking up stray paper and candy wrappers from the "campus"

trying to complete deadlines at 1:30 A.M.

learning the camera's strobe was broken on the only nights available to take pictures, or trying to find stray staff members.

At other times, however, we have thought that our plans couldn't have been more complete, our ideas better, or people more cooperative;

Such as Hubbard's Studio who supplied us with excellent senior, club, faculty, and faculty pictures,

Mr. Clark and Mr. Lawrence who gave us photography help,
Jackie Douin and the business staff whose work is often thankless,
Grant Canfield who created art work,

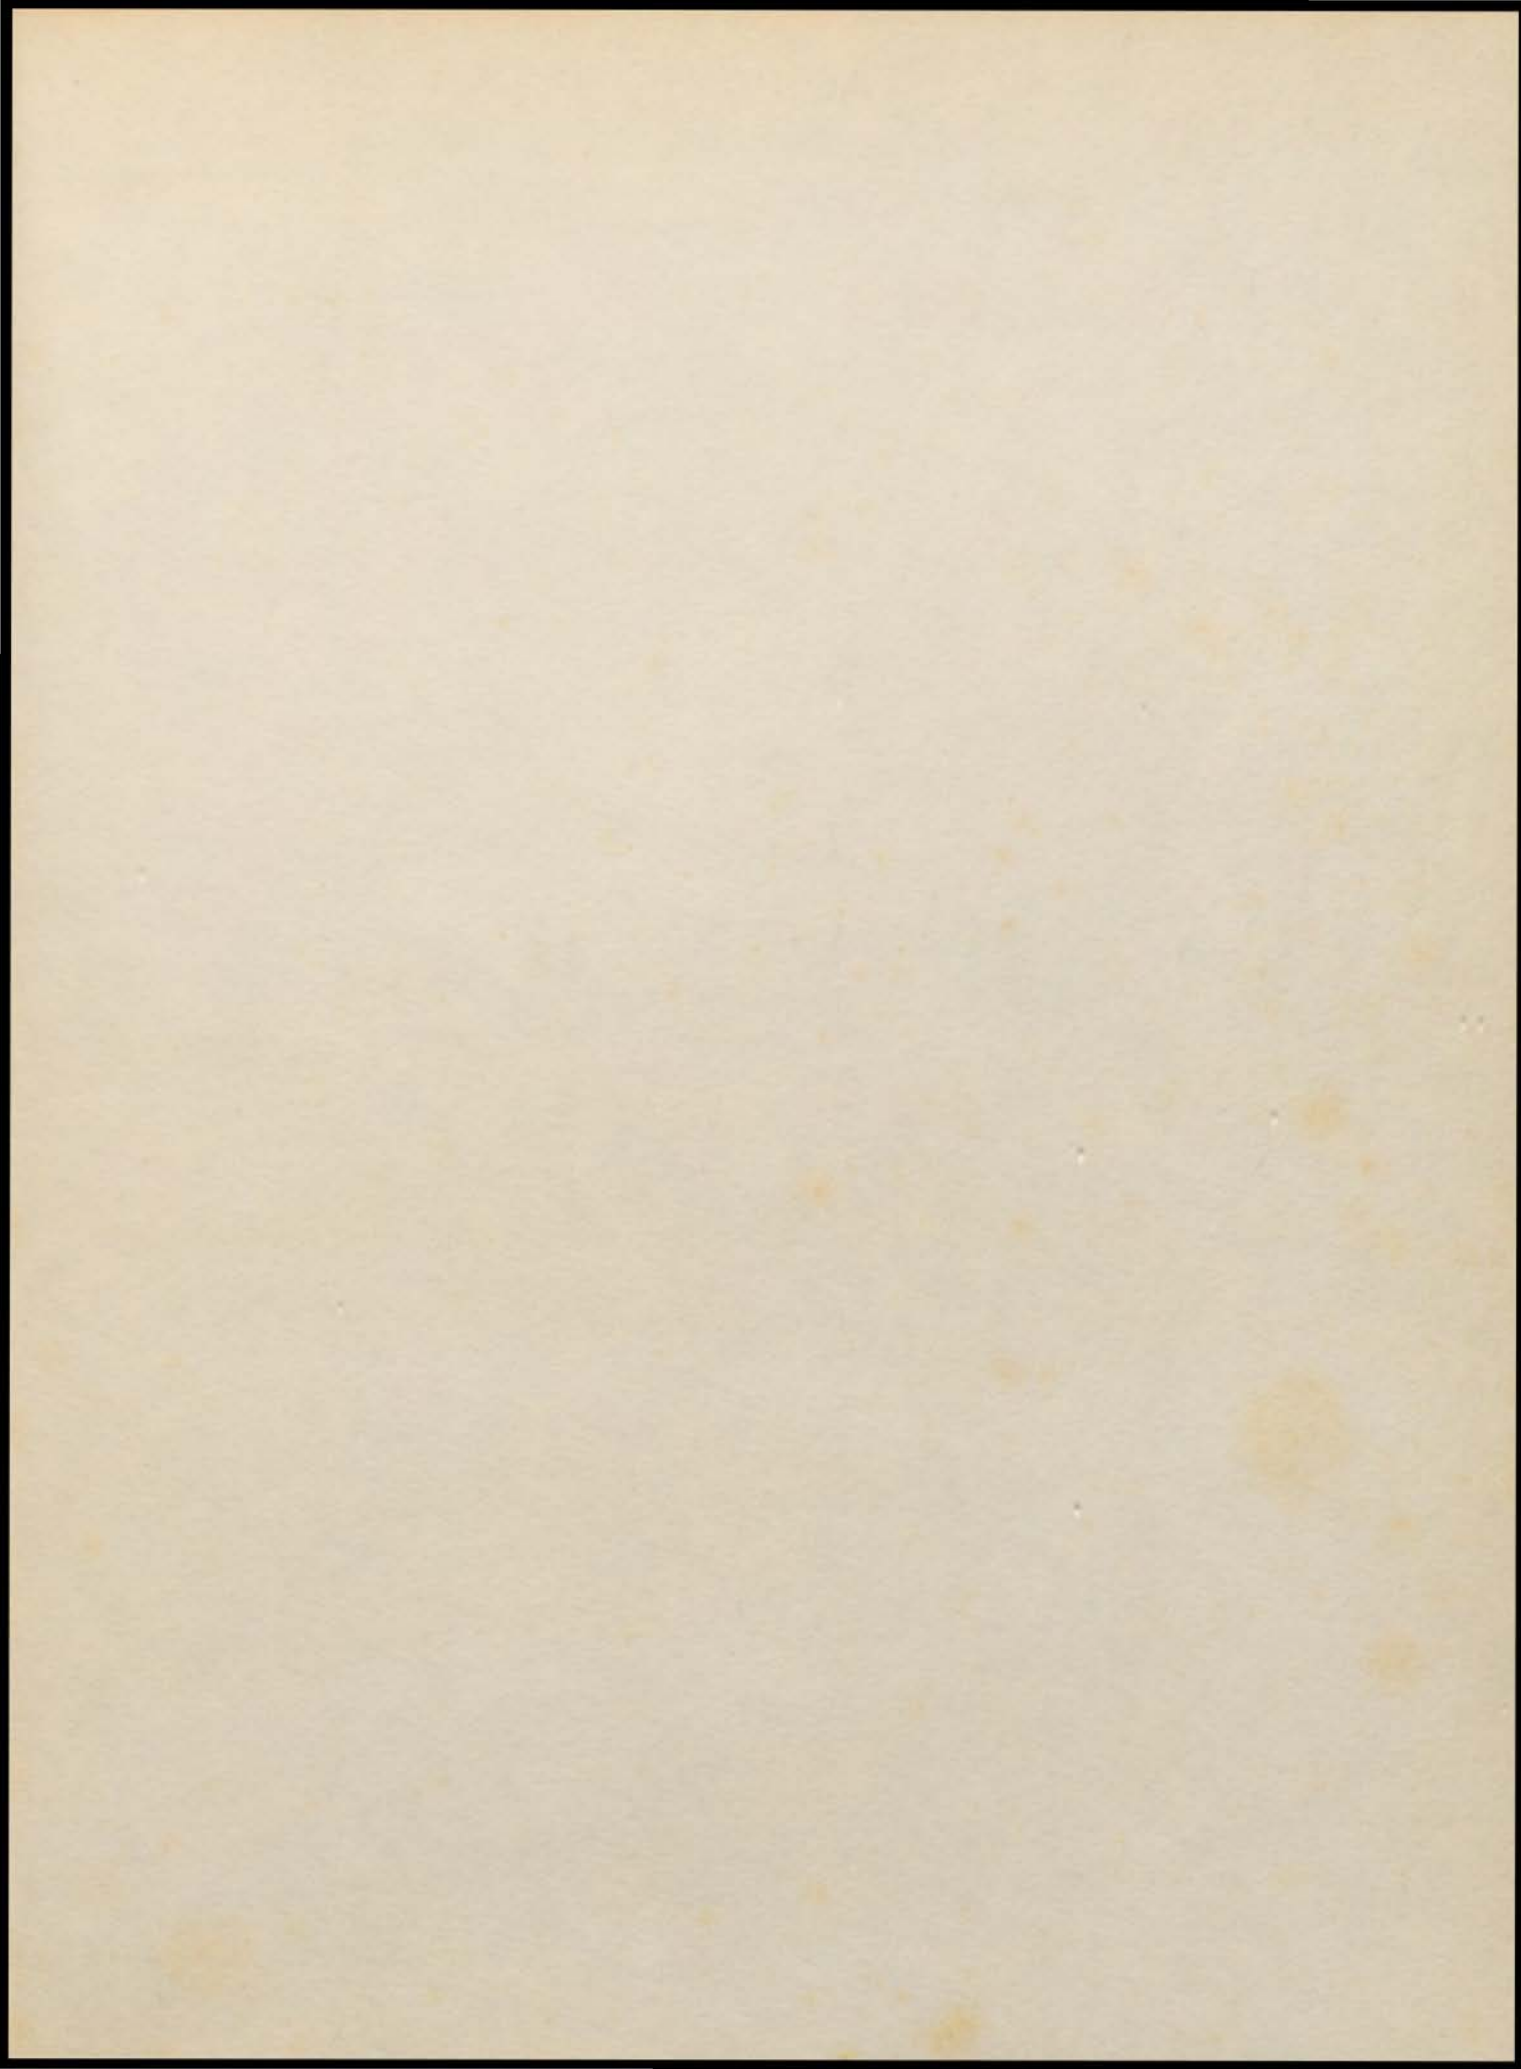

Mrs. Huffstader and Mr. Straub of the American Yearbook Company who gave us much needed help,

the PANTHER PRESS who loaned us pictures, strobos, and help, the faculty, the administration, and all who gave time, cooperation or inspiration, and of course Miss Pulliam and Mr. Schwalbe without whose time and efforts this book would not be possible.

Producing this book has been both fun and frustrating, promising and depressing, time consuming and rewarding. We hope that the 1963 PANTHERAMA reflects all of Eisenhower through 1962-1963, and that in producing this book we have used "The Proper Balance."

CONTRACT CAJOLERY

Contract Cajolery, this year's annual musical, was held on March 29 and 30. The Music Department, with the help of the Art and Physical Education Departments, produced this hilarious spy story. Contract Cajolery was a satire on our Republican party, Democrat party, the Kennedy's, and of course the Russians, represented by the Bear Company. The Republicans and Democrats were so busy fighting between themselves that the Bear Company was just about able to steal the Contract.

The two female Bear spies were converted to our American idealism just in time to warn our parties. The contract was saved when the Republicans and Democrats united together against the Russians.

For those who took part in the musical, it was a lot of work, but to those who saw Contract Cajolery, it was an unforgettable musical.

'IKE' STUDENTS CAMPAIGN, PERFORM, AND

Student Council campaigning included posters, speeches, and enthusiastic demonstrations.

During spring, EHS students found opportunity to participate in many activities. Pat McLoughlin led the Honor Society induction ceremonies and the successful Student Council candidates took their offices during the second semester. Each class presented entertainment at their respective class nights. The freshmen won using a Roaring Twenties theme. For talent shows the sophomores presented Midnight Macabre and the juniors, Around the World in 80 minutes. Exchange assemblies provided a chance to learn of other schools as well as entertainment.

Many organizations found the Carnival a profitable event.

Victims of the Pantherama pie-throw.

The annual Carnival provided fun, excitement, entertainment, and food at the booths sponsored by clubs and organizations. The Spring Dance was climaxed by the crowning of April's Fool. Voting for the Fool had been done by classes at a penny a vote. Student Government Day reversed the student-teacher arrangement, and seniors served as administrators.

In April, EHS hosted the state student council convention in Chicago. Tiptones and the Dance Band provided entertainment, and EHSers served as hosts.

VENTIONS, AND ONE-ACT PLAYS.

Two, one-act plays, "French Toast," and "The Cleanest Town in the West," were presented in the auditorium. Directors were Bob Burgener and Linda Harper respectively.

"I think we blew a fuse," was the comment during the day the electricity was off.

Panthers Complete 8-7 Season

The 1963 Eisenhower baseball team was composed of eight returning lettermen from the previous state champion team of 1962. Included were all-tourney selections Lee Boyko, Roe Skidmore, and Mickey Dukeman.

The infield consisted of Skidmore at first base, Ron Smith at second base, Boyko at short stop, and Gary Hartman at third base. The catching was handled by Don Crews and Carl Hanson. The outfield was covered mainly by Mickey Dukeman, Mike Ball, Jim Newcome, and Ritchard Wiand. Bob Redpath, Bryan Stockwell, and Dan Ogden did the pitching. Lee Boyko at .373, and Ron Smith at .333 were the team's leading hitters. Bob Redpath had the best won-lost record, 5-4, and the lowest earned run average, 1.65.

The Panthers lost five of their first six games, then recovered to win eight of the next ten, including wins over MacArthur, Stephen Decatur, and St. Teresa for an overall record of eight wins and seven defeats. This was the poorest record that an Eisenhower baseball team has ever had.

With nine returning lettermen, the outlook for the 1964 season seems bright.

BLACK AND WHITE DAY

On Black and White Day, EHS students showed their school pride by wearing black and white. The Student-Faculty game was held in the afternoon. The men faculty battled the Senior boys during the regular game, and at half-time the women faculty and the senior girls struggled against each other.

The purpose of Black and White Day is to create enthusiasm in the basketball game that night.

Eisenhower Prom Queen — Karen Foster

Southern Serenade, this year's Prom, was presented by Eisenhower and Stephen Decatur juniors. The EHS gym was decorated with pastel flowers, southern plantation murals, and colorful willow trees. In the center a small bridge crossed a lazy brook, hidden under a flurry of trees.

With Johnny Rinaldo and his band providing the music the evening turned into a beautiful dream complete with a crown bearer, Darlene Harmer and a queen, Karen Foster.
