EDITOR: Janet Seitz

The fabric of our days is woven with many threads which interlace, blend, and form a design of purpose and value.

Our constant endeavors toward success are enhanced by the blended skeins of our joys, our beliefs,
our kindnesses, our loves, and our loyalty.
Of these, loyalty emerges from the background to assume the dominant theme in our wonderful tapestry of 1960.

We then add a little Spartan dye to the product of our loom and present for your approval . . .

CURRICULUM

Mrs. Marjorie Seaney
District Nurse

Representing all the teachers of the schools, heads of departments initiate and follow through on professional advancement in areas of service and curriculum development.

Lakeview is presently involved in these endeavors: staff utilization project, program for superior and talented student, study of creativity, and the gifted child study.

The Cabinet sets the pace for our progress in curriculum development

DEDICATION

Mr. Petty explains an equation in algebra.

Mr. Harold O. Petty
Head, Mathematics Department

We salute Mr. Petty!

It is our privilege to acknowledge our deep affection and appreciation to Mr. Petty for the wonderful way he has of getting us to think and to work hard; for his kindness, and patience, and friendliness; for his great interest in us as individuals; for his service as football coach; and for being an athlete's "biggest fan."

In any poll, he is one of our favorite teachers. We are very happy to dedicate this '60 Dorian to "our big friend."

It appears that a leaking roof might interrupt the varsity game with St. Teresa. Not so; the building is firmly constructed.

Lighter threads add sparkling quality to delight the observer

The St. Teresa game provided what appeared to be photographic evidence of a mugging—but it was purely circumstantial.

These are not the proverbial "monkeys who speak no evil, hear no evil, think no evil," but junior play cast pantomiming a peep through the stage curtain.

A Hitchcock effect is "created" by Kenny Eschbaugh's overactive imagination. Culprit: Biology lab's prize spider.

Sandy's

Frank's home—the seaport of Genoa

We love and admire our wonderful foreign exchange student from Italy

Our first foreign exchange student, Frank Libro, quickly became a real Spartan who makes friends easily, keeps up his homework, loves hamburgers (without onions), enjoys basketball and swimming, and looks forward to owning his own car. He has an intense interest in economics and political science, planning on a diplomatic career.

Frank's mother is a grade school teacher and his father is a policeman in Genoa. His brother, Antonio, age 19, is a freshman in law school, his 12-year old sister, Luciana is in Jr. High.

Frank leaves this message to all his Lakeview friends: "Everyone who comes to Genoa, call me. Telephone: 586894."

A serious student, Frank carefully ponders a choice of books.

Frank and his American brother, Skip Friend, are warm friends.
