Marisol Saavedra

My name is Marisol Saavedra and I come from South America in fact I am from Quillota, Chile. Maybe some of you still don't know me, but I'm only one more of the many AFSers that you have had in the past at this school.

First I will start talking about how I applied to come here. When I applied to be an AFSer one year ago in my junior year I dreamed that it would be a good experience for me to meet new people with different language, different customs, and to see how many differences there are between one country and another. I never thought that my dream would come true. The surprise was really big when I received the news. The surprise was even greater for my parents, they were really proud of me and happy to know that I chose to be an AFSer.

I arrived here on August 11, 1976, almost a year ago. I came here quite spacey with only spanish words in my mouth. So many things had to be learned I was like a baby I started all over again. Now nine months later, what I learned here it looks like my spanish is gone and my English is getting better. The reason for this is one big reason Mrs. Luecal, who received me in her class and helped me very much.

Also I have to mention and give a special thanks to my family, the Snyder's, who opened and offered their home for my stay in the U.S.A. There are a lot of things they did for me and are still doing.

Now that the school year is ending I have mixed emotions. It seems like I came yesterday and I have to leave tomorrow. But remember my door is always open in CHILE and I will return someday.

Thanks for the Memories,
Maria Soledad Saavedra Diaz

Memories

Memories are made of things
That happen every day
Moments as we live them
Things we do or say

Little bits and pieces
Of laughter mixed with tears
Paragraphs and pages
Written through the years

The friendships we remember
Mistakes that we regret
The ending of a love
We never could forget

We can't erase the sadness
Or edit out the tears
We can't undo the wrong
We can't relive the years

But since memories keep building
Each day can be the start
Of making new and happy ones
To store within the heart

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial statements. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses, income, and transfers between accounts.

The second part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the accounting cycle. It outlines the ten steps involved in the process, from identifying the accounting entity to preparing financial statements. Each step is explained in detail, with examples provided to illustrate the concepts.

The third part of the document focuses on the classification of accounts. It discusses the different types of accounts used in accounting, such as assets, liabilities, equity, revenue, and expense accounts. It explains how these accounts are organized into a chart of accounts and how they are used to record transactions.

The fourth part of the document covers the journalizing process. It describes how transactions are recorded in the general journal and how they are then posted to the ledger. It includes examples of journal entries and explains the importance of debiting and crediting accounts.

The fifth part of the document discusses the trial balance. It explains how a trial balance is prepared and how it is used to verify the accuracy of the accounting records. It also discusses the importance of balancing the books and how to identify and correct errors.

The sixth part of the document covers the preparation of financial statements. It discusses the different types of financial statements, such as the balance sheet, income statement, and statement of cash flows. It explains how these statements are prepared and how they are used to provide information to management and other stakeholders.

The seventh part of the document discusses the closing process. It explains how the temporary accounts (revenue, expense, and dividend accounts) are closed to the permanent accounts (assets, liabilities, and equity accounts) at the end of the accounting period. It includes examples of closing entries and explains the importance of this process.

The eighth part of the document covers the correction of errors. It discusses the different types of errors that can occur in the accounting process and how they are identified and corrected. It includes examples of error corrections and explains the importance of maintaining accurate records.

The ninth part of the document discusses the importance of internal controls. It explains how internal controls are designed to prevent and detect errors and fraud in the accounting process. It includes examples of internal controls and explains how they are implemented.

The tenth part of the document covers the final steps of the accounting cycle. It discusses the preparation of the final financial statements and the closing of the books for the accounting period. It includes examples of final entries and explains the importance of this process.
