A pen in the hand of an artist forms first a single line: to this he adds a second, then a third. As each new line takes its place, the design develops meaning and purpose. Each line remains a separate entity, yet each is inter-dependent on those around and about it to complete its meaning.

In like manner the high school student begins his term in school as an individual and as he communicates with those around him, his fellow students, and his teachers, he helps to develop the design we know as Eisenhower High School. In the artist's picture each line is necessary to complete the picture. In the school each student is a necessary part of the school itself.

As the student passes his years of education he is enriched by the people and things around him. He, in turn, enriches the lives of those he meets.

Once a graduate the student retains his individuality, but is now an individual with a vastly developed personality and a deeper concern for his goals in life.

We, the Pantherama Staff of 1962, will attempt to recall for you the people, the places, and the events around and about our school which went into the design of Eisenhower High School.

PEOPLE

"The Freshman quite bewildered
That pretty Sophomore lass
The Junior in his study hall
The Senior late for class
The faculty and office staff
The teams and coaches too,
We'll miss them when the term is done
But mostly we'll miss you"

As Emily Post would say . . .

Touchdown?

PLACES

"From parking lot to physics lab,
To the art room then to paint a dab,
To English class and history
Then try to solve Trig's mystery.
The gym class is a rowdy bunch
Then take a quick time out for lunch.
Geometry is much too deep,
In study hall you fall asleep.
Those French verbs just won't conjugate,
for band practice you're almost late.
The chem names you can never spell,
And then, at last, the final bell."

"Lassie and Her Little Friends?"

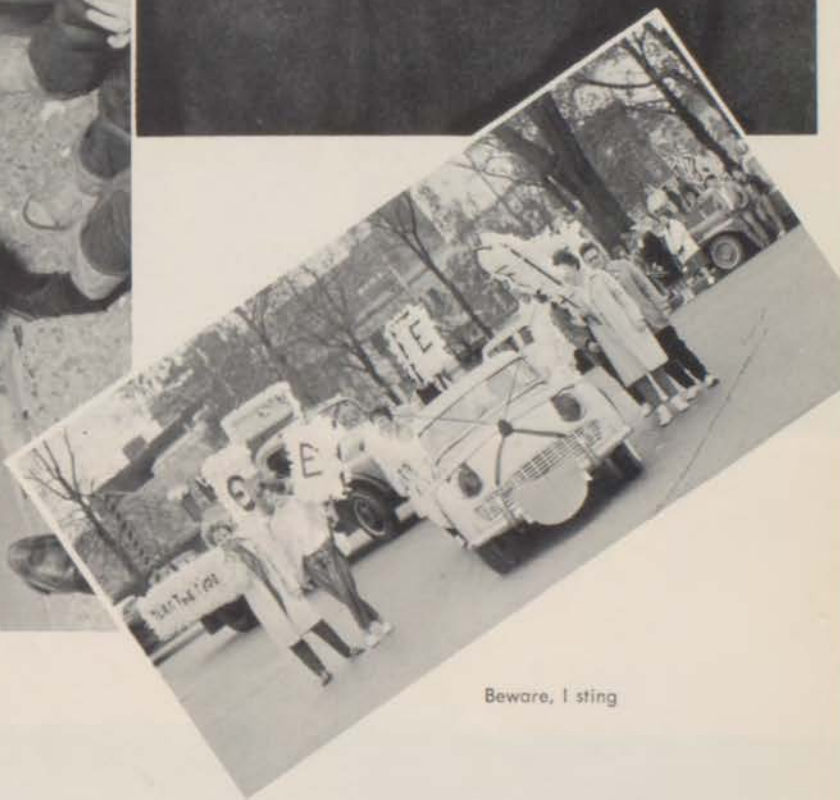

"The Thinker"

EVENTS

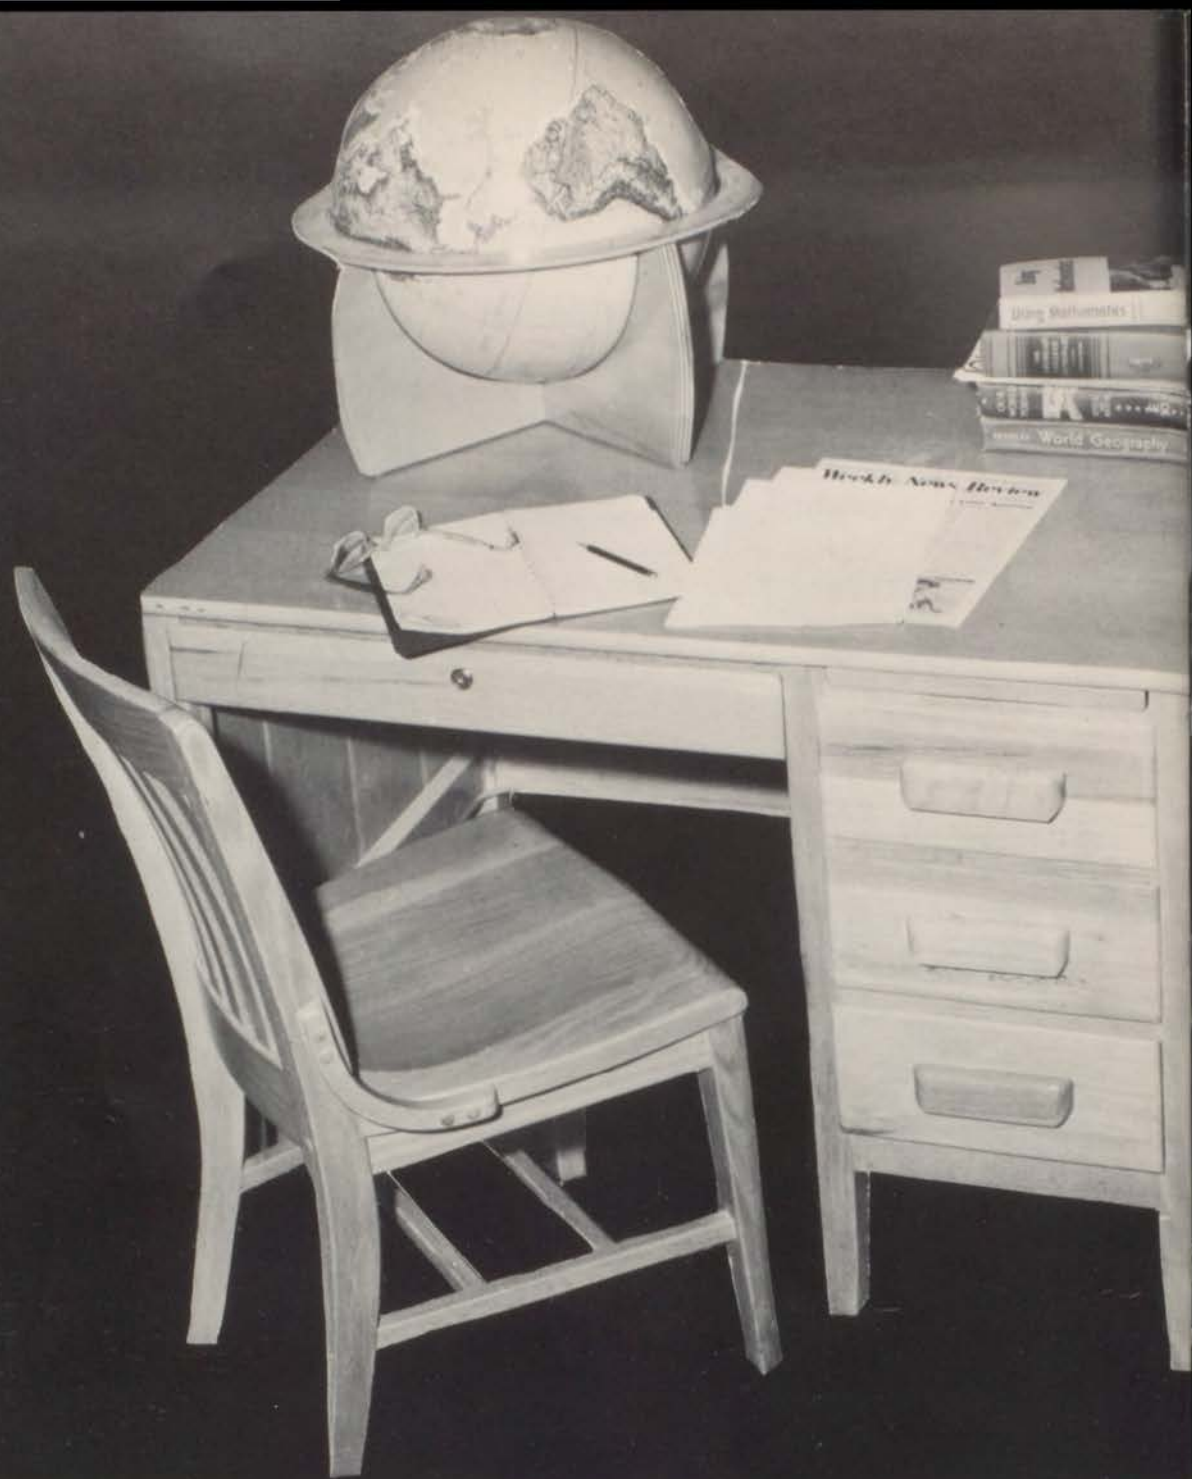

"Let's cheer the teams — they gave their all.
The dances? . . . Swell . . . Each one a ball.
Assemblies, Parties, Plays, Dentention
A list of things too long to mention,
Like gym class — lunch hour — corridor passes — 3:46 . . . and, oh yes, classes"

DEDICA

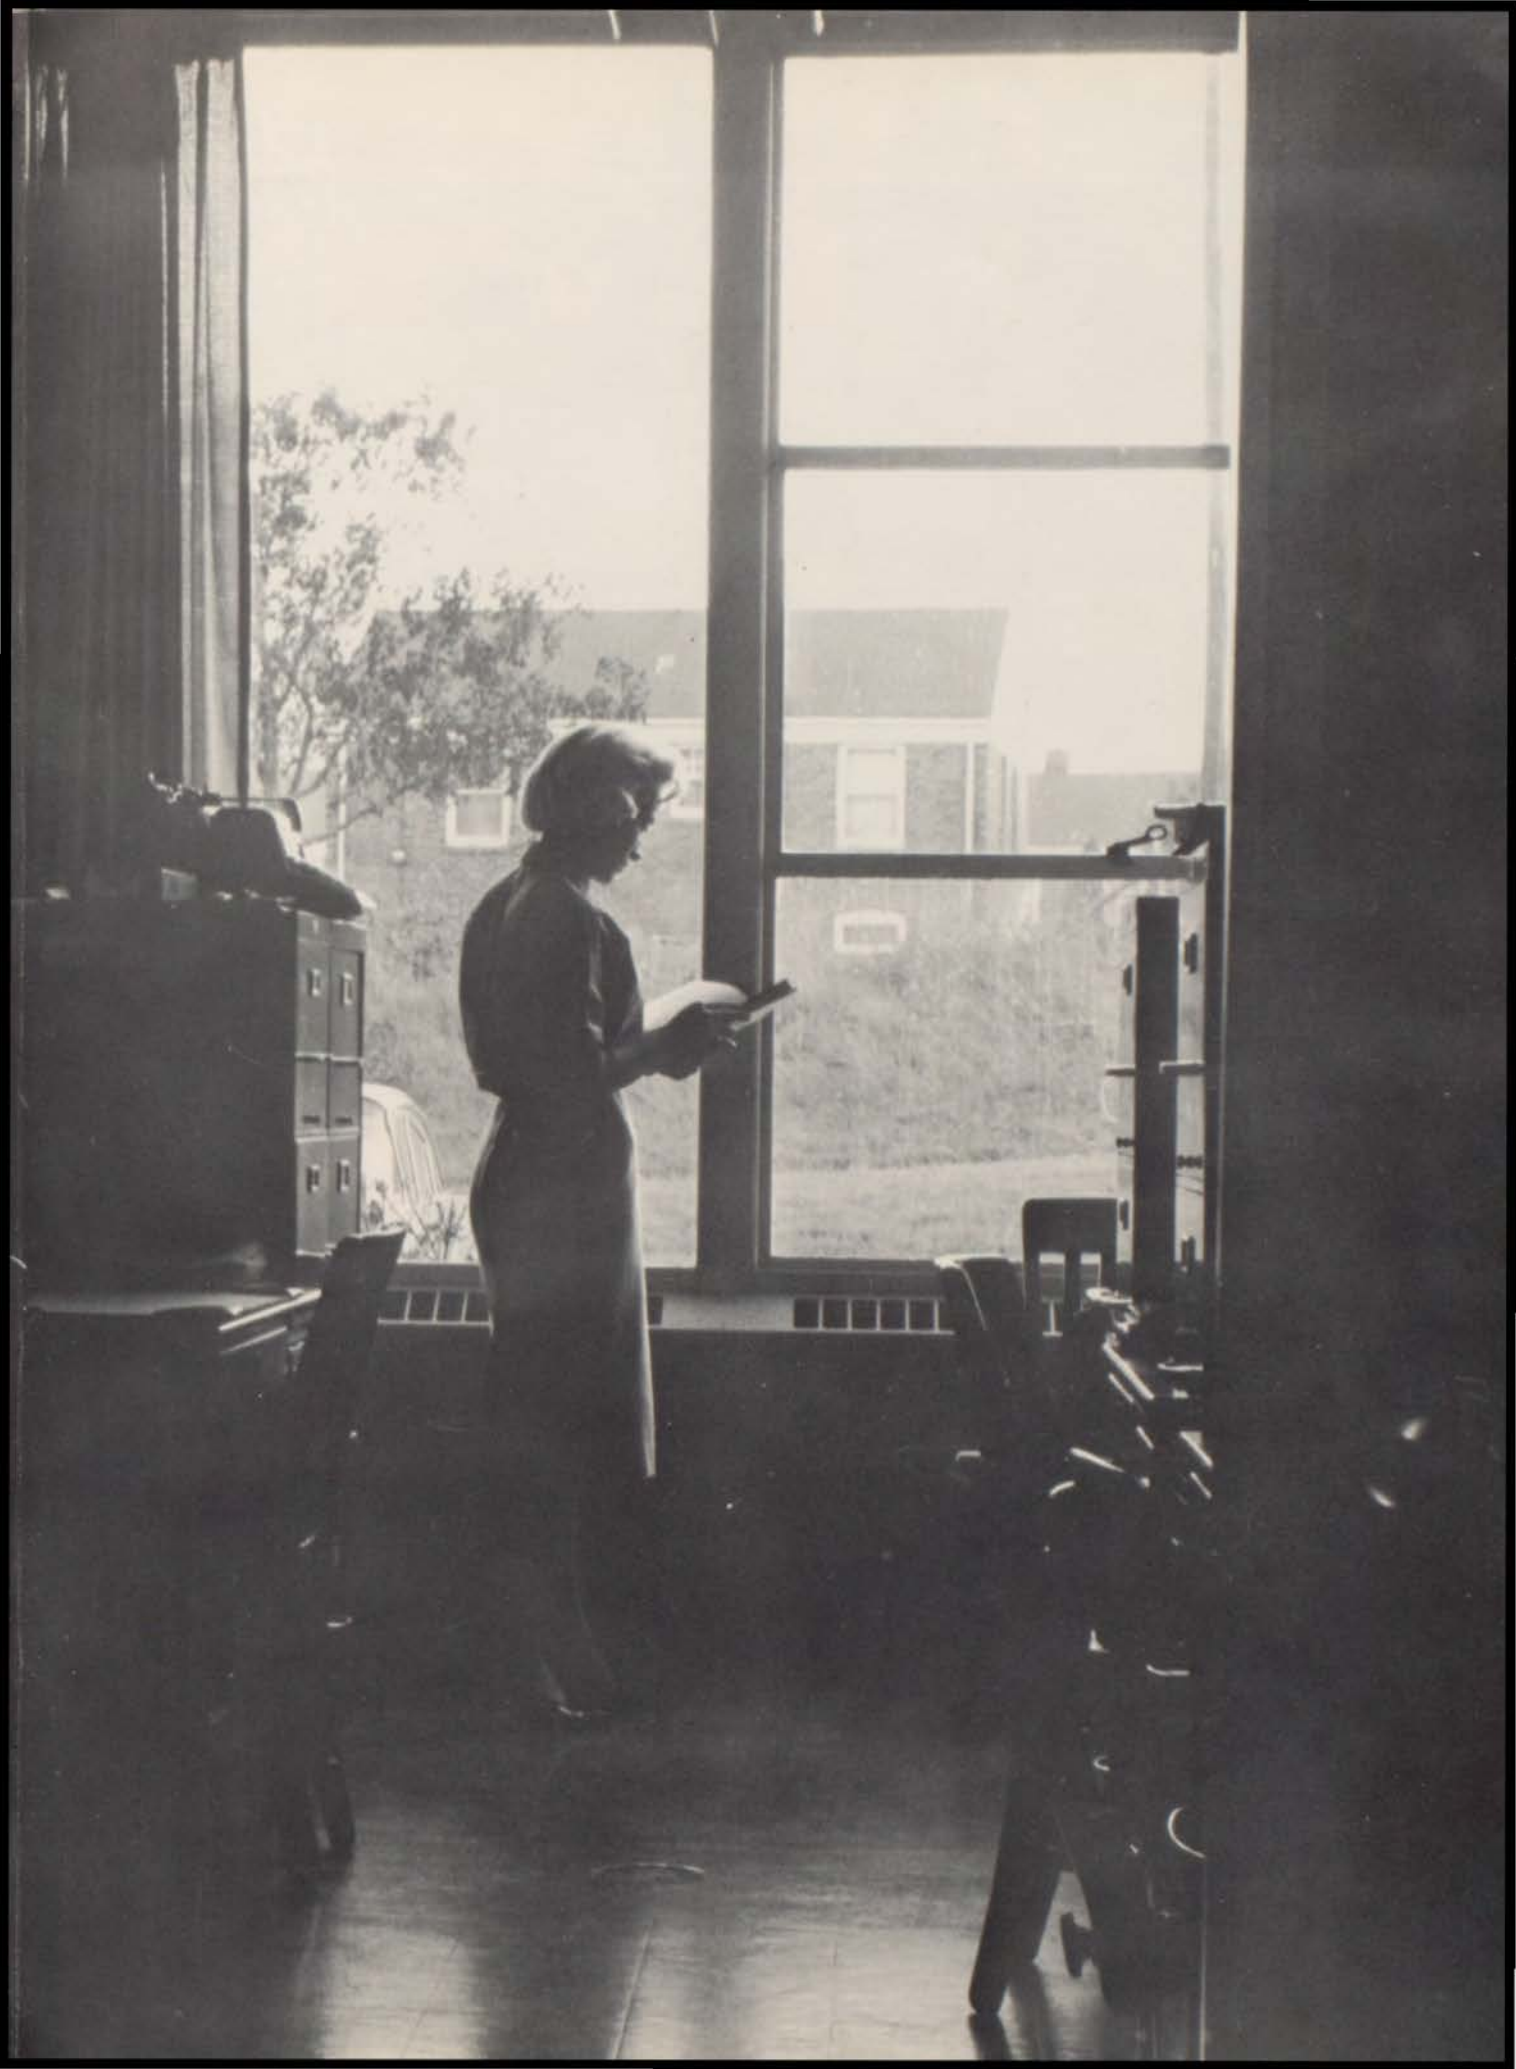

TO YOU . . .

the faculty of Eisenhower High School . . . we are proud to dedicate the 1962 Pantherama. Without your consideration, cooperation, and supervision, the goals and ideals of Eisenhower and its students would be difficult to attain. Students appreciate your special efforts to sponsor their activities — their clubs, committees, field trips, and plays, which constitute an important part of high school life. To put forth this special effort, the student body realizes that it is necessary for the teacher to give willingly of his own time. In order that these sacrifices do not go unrewarded, we wish to express the appreciation, gratitude, and respect of the student body.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education of Decatur is composed of seven members who are elected from the district. The members serve without pay and spend a lot of time attending Board meetings. Most of their hours are spent planning policies, rules, and regulations to make the best possible education for the children of Decatur.

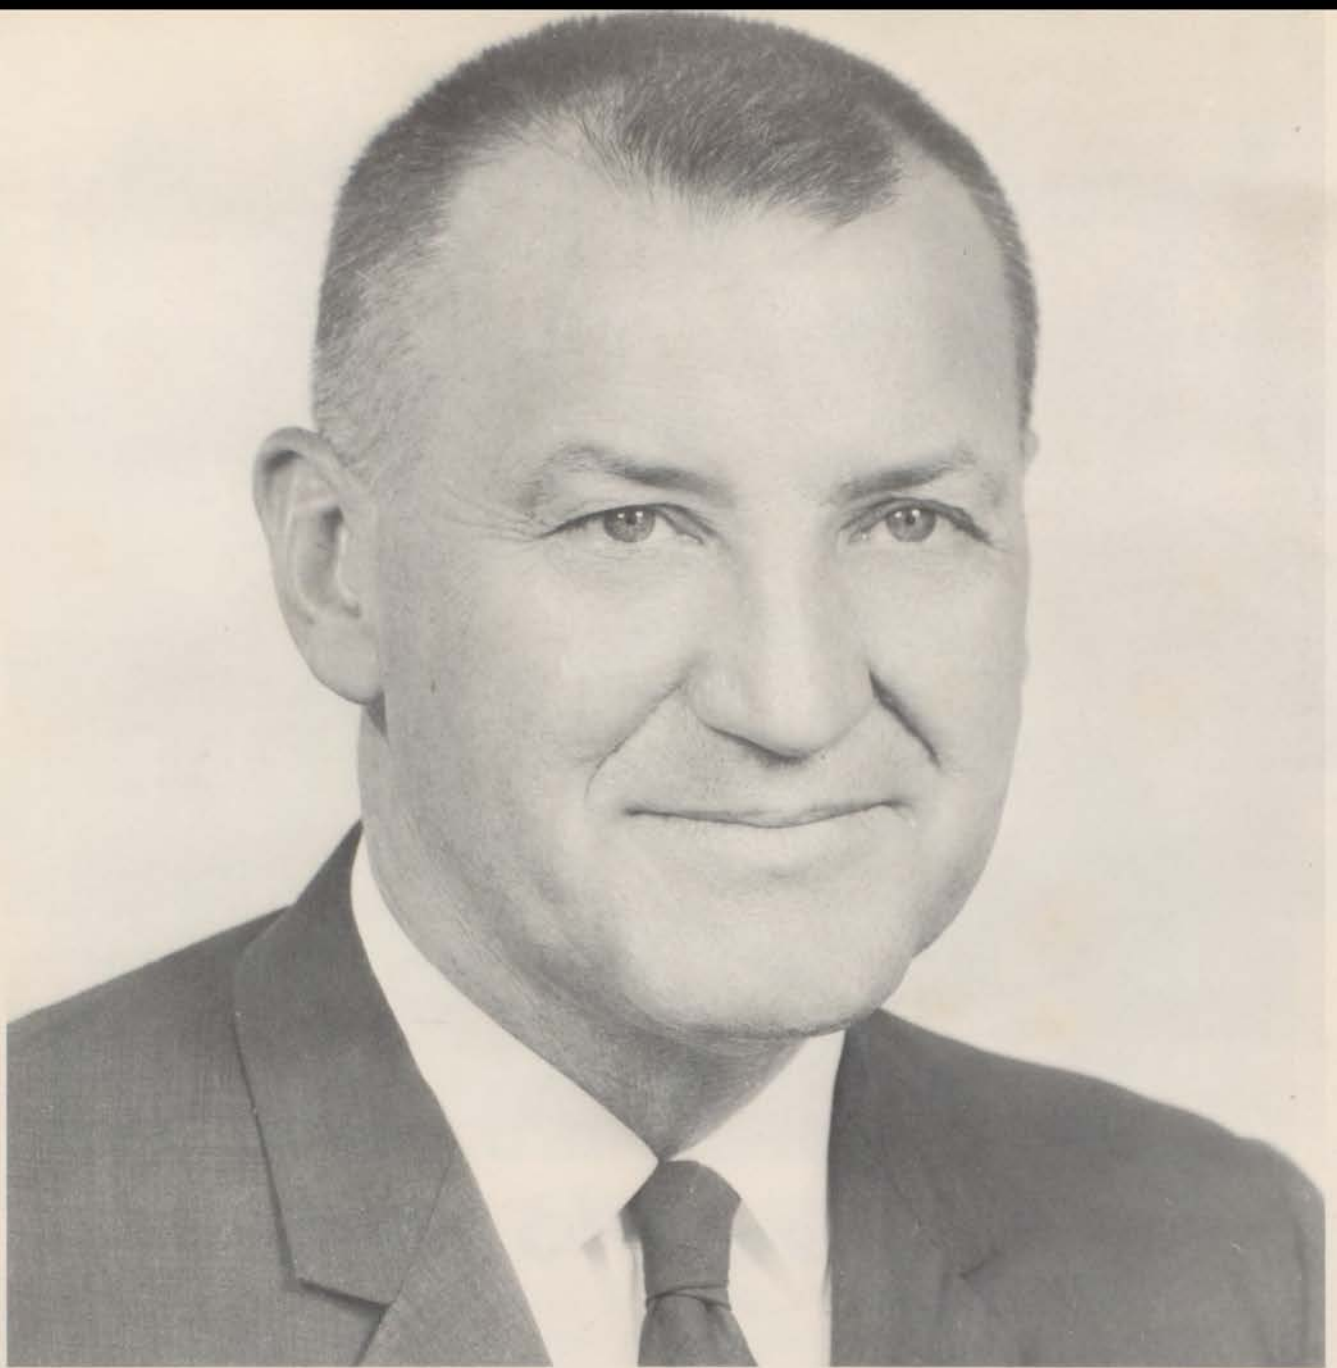

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

SEATED: Mrs. John Dennis, recording secretary; Mrs. Russell Tetley, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Loren Grabb, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Buttz, Jr., President. STAND-

ING: Mr. Dean Mullen, treasurer; Mrs. Adeline McQueen, corresponding secretary.

The goal of P.T.A. is to promote the welfare of children and youth in the home, school, church, and community. The P.T.A. tries to bring the parents of the children closer to the school and teachers. They strive to secure the highest advantages in physical, mental, and spiritual education.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRINCIPAL . . .

The events, activities, and accomplishments around and about Eisenhower High School during the five years of our existence are beginning to have a noticeable impact upon the school and its students. We can note the successful emergence of many of our graduates as future leaders in the field of business and industry. This year many members of our first graduating class will receive degrees from colleges. Cumulative effects of the successes of those who have left our doors and the activities and accomplishments of those who are in our school are adding to our traditions and goals. May the next five years prove as fruitful as the past in the things we do around and about Eisenhower.

MR. RALPH WESTERMAN

Mr. Westerman, as Assistant Principal has probably the most diversified job in the administration. He makes announcements, plans the schedule, donates time to many activities and organizations, and generally helps our school to operate smoothly.

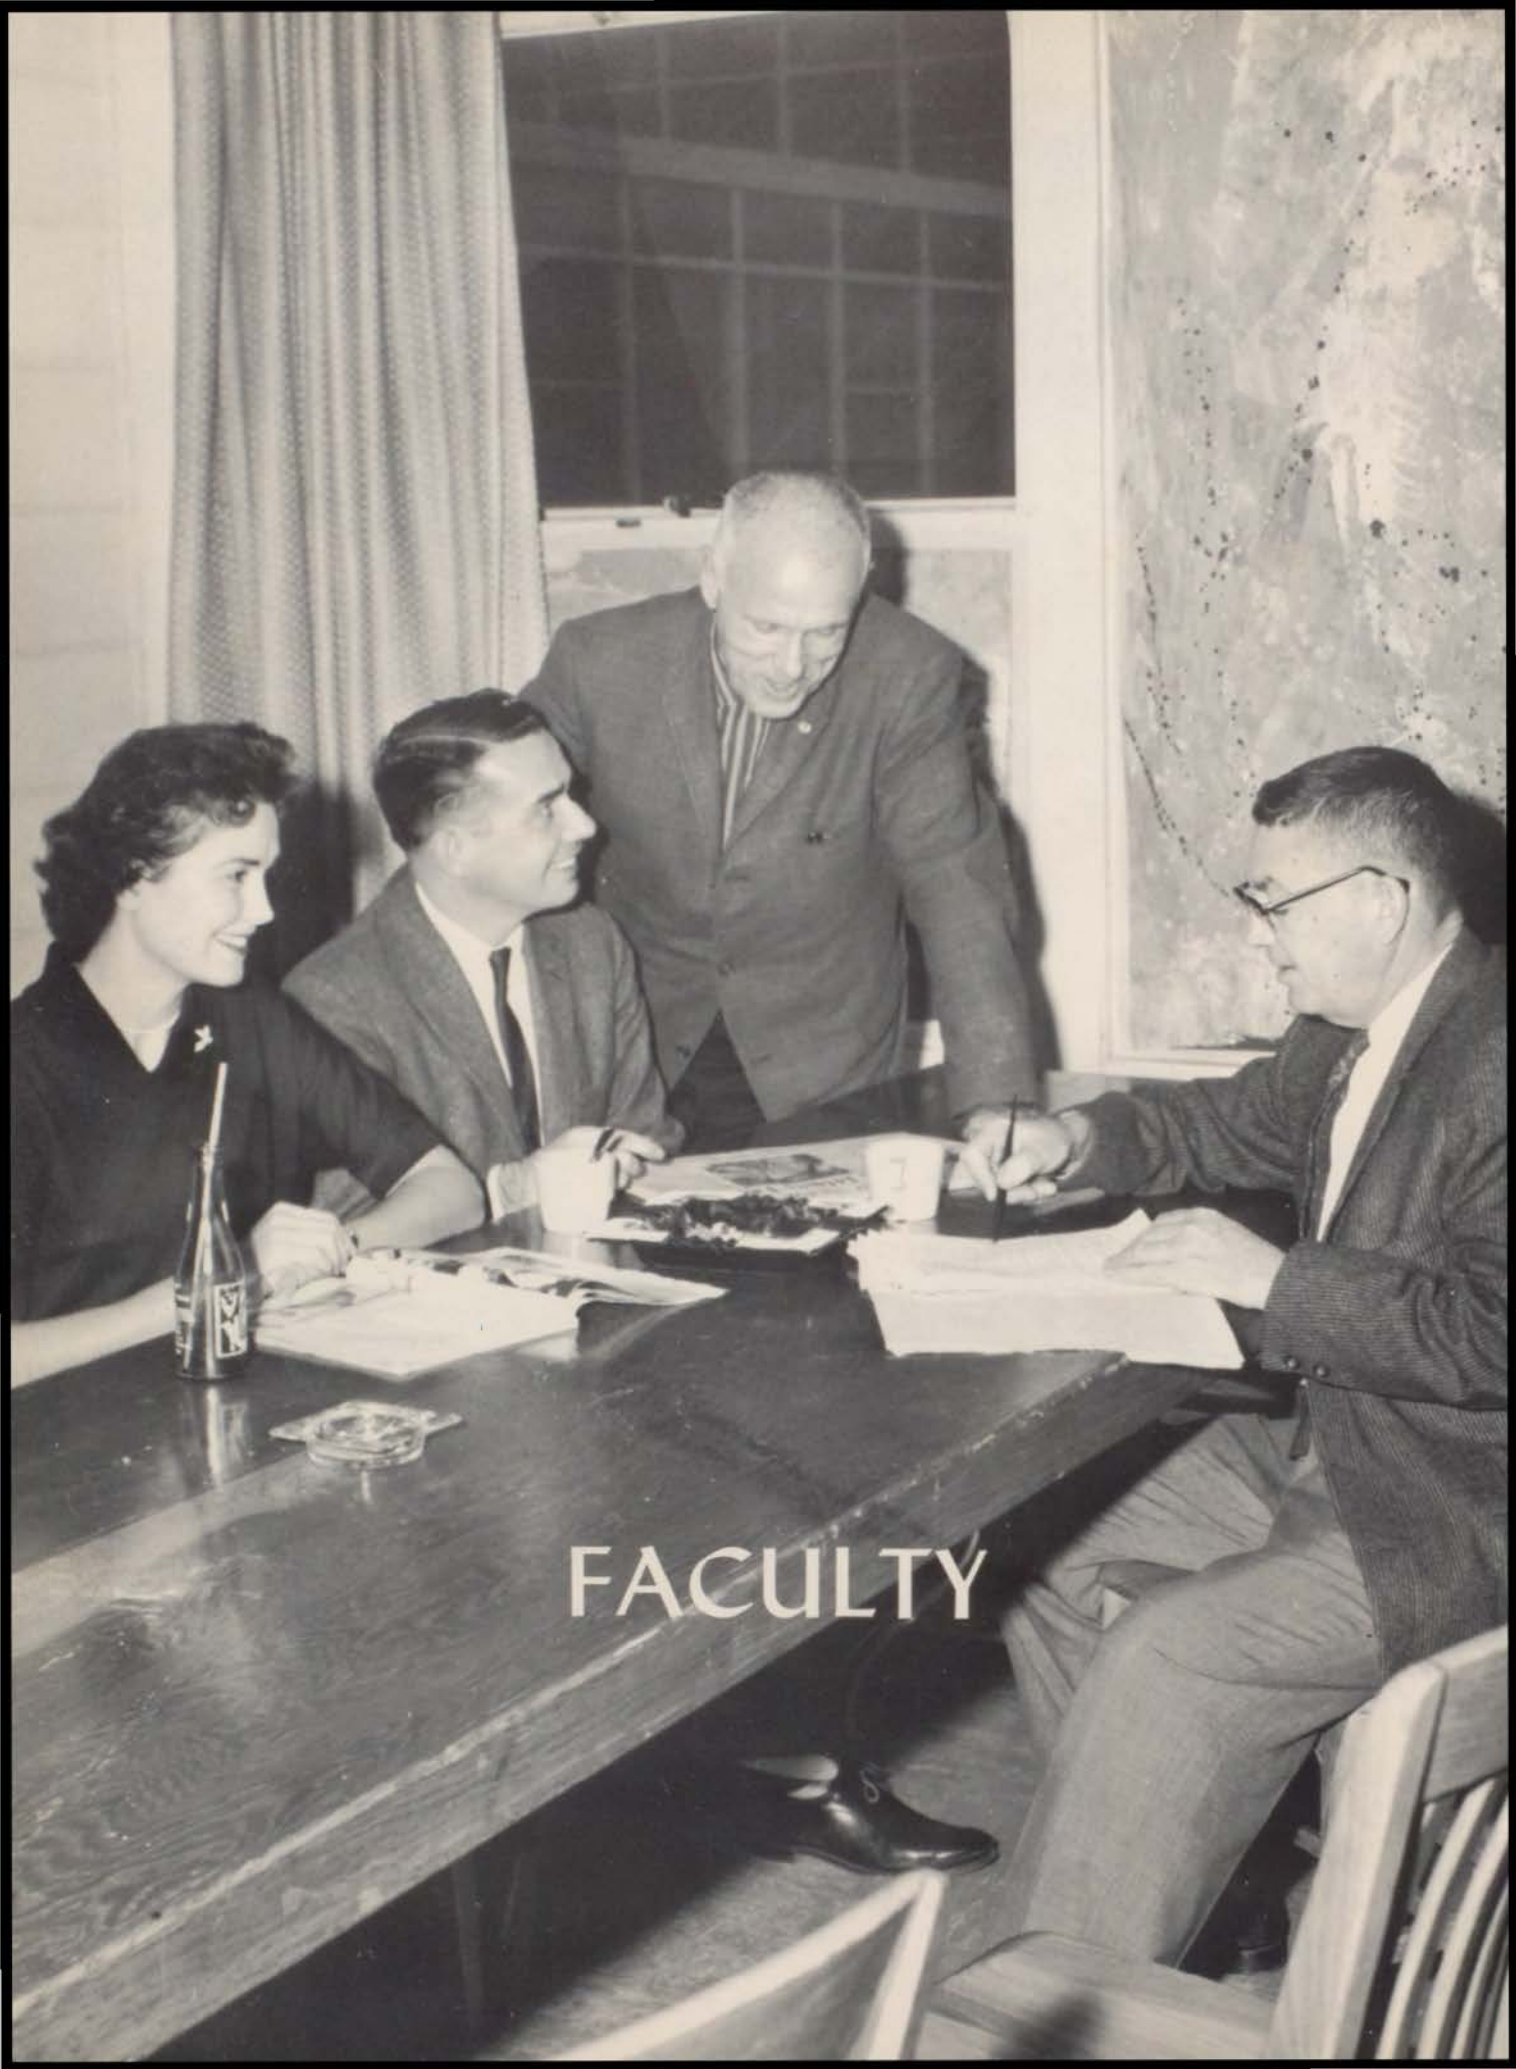

MR. BILL ROHRSCHEIB

Mr. Rohrscheib, our dean of boys, is principally occupied with boys' supervision and the distribution of all books, lockers, and supplies. Despite his busy schedule Mr. Rohrscheib doesn't mind helping with individual problems.

MISS MARIE WEBER

Miss Weber, dean of girls, is primarily concerned with planning the calendar and counselling. Her patience and understanding have been a great help to our student body.

MRS. PIGGOTT
Illinois State Normal, B.Ed.

The Art Dept. now provides an opportunity for students who are interested in and talented in art to express themselves through drawing, painting, lettering, designing and ceramics. Classes in art activities, drawing, and painting, and applied design are available for students.

The art department extends itself beyond the art room. Students' work is displayed on the bulletin boards. The scenery for the musical is done by art students, as are many of the attractive posters advertising it and other school activities.

ENGLISH

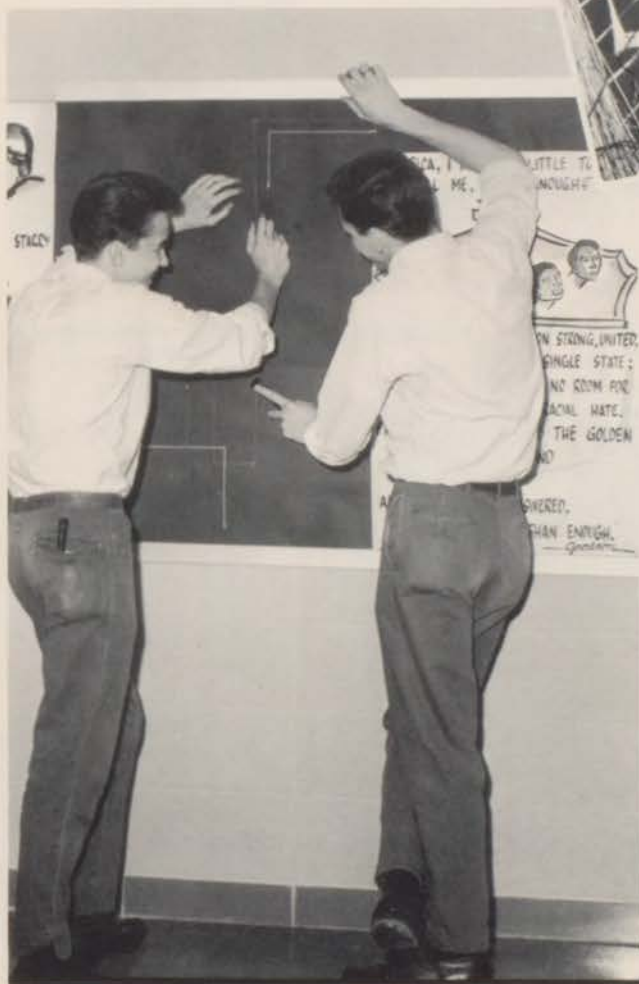

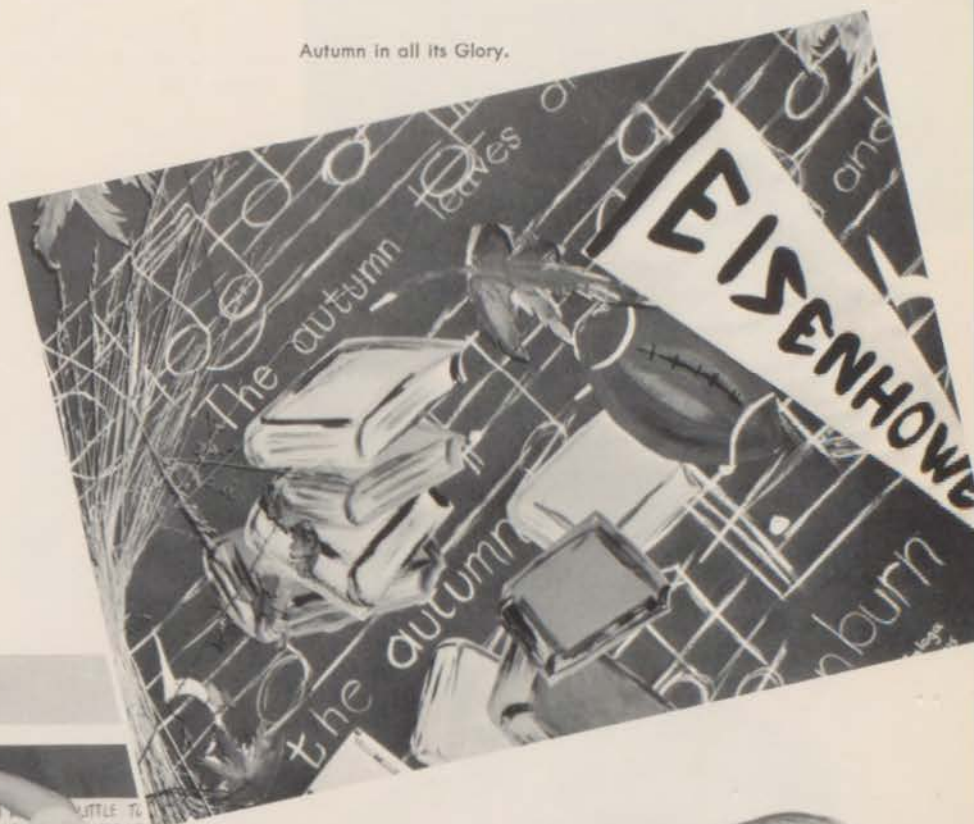

The English department seeks to do its share in training Eisenhower students to grow each day in their own worth as individuals; to attain facility in expressing their innermost thoughts; to find inspiration in great literature that stimulates the mind and stirs the senses; to become more sensitive to the feelings of people about them and to the beauty of the world in which they live.

L A N G U A G E

The thrust that can put world understanding into orbit. That is the motto of the Foreign Language Dept. Dr. Cobb, head of the dept., believes in the immense importance connected with languages. This year, the dept. introduces a new system, the audio-lingual method. This stresses the importance of listening and speaking before learning the reading and writing. Edoardo Franco, the Italian waif sponsored by the dept., is beginning his 3rd year with the dept. as his foster parents.

GUIDANCE

The Guidance Department functions as a service department for our students, teachers, and parents. The counselor's role is one of helping the individual to better use himself and his potential for a happier and more productive life. The counselor is ready to listen to and to help a student whether the matter be one of social, educational, vocational, or personal concern.

HOMEMAKING

Homemaking offers more than clothing and food. It includes home nursing, and family living. Under that you would learn how to dress, buy and sew. Under foods you learn how to buy foods, how to plan, and to cook. It's under home nursing you get actual experience of taking care of the sick. In family living you learn about what it takes to have a happy home. This department also sponsors the F.H.A. program.

MUSIC

Each music student is given opportunities to take part in various musical experiences in which he is qualified and interested. Classroom instruction provides instructions in the development of good singing habits. For those who are interested in instrumental groups A Band, B Band, Stage Band, and Orchestra are offered. Here musical groups are of great value to the school and community because of their varied services.

PHYSICAL

The objects of the Eisenhower Physical Education program are designed to create a well-rounded personal and social life for the students. The main idea, of course, is to aid the development of neuro-muscular skills and organic power through big muscle activities. Another purpose is to stimulate interest and joy in skills, sports, and other activities which are meaningful now and which may be carried on into adult life. The creation of opportunities for exercising such desirable social traits as leadership, fellowship, and cooperation is also emphasized.

Fair play, courtesy, honesty, self-control, loyalty, truthfulness, and good sportsmanship are stressed by the E.H.S. coaches at all times. Not forgotten, too, is the development of proper habits, attitudes, and ideals toward helpful living and better service to the community.

SCIENCE

Science offerings at Eisenhower enable a student to secure a broad background in biological and physical sciences. This gives the student a better understanding of the ways of living things and enriches his knowledge of this complex age of science. Those who wish to go on in science are better able to choose their fields of specialization.

LIBRARY

MRS. OLIVIA EVANS
Assistant Librarian.

Because the library is the materials center of any school, the library at Eisenhower offers more than books for study and recreational reading. There are pamphlets, newspapers, current and back issues of magazines, reference books and encyclopedias. The skill of learning to use the library well will not only benefit students while in school but will remain with them throughout adult life.

School was soon in full swing with class meetings, faculty meetings, football games, assemblies, and the SCAT test.

I come to praise Caesar, not to bury him.

As school progressed, Bill Uhler gave his AFS report, the PSAT test was given, report cards were distributed, and we were privileged to hear Milliken's articulations. College day provided Juniors and Seniors an opportunity to learn of colleges and their requirements. Students and teachers alike worked to have everything as clean as possible for parent visitation night.

On Thursday, Nov. 2, 1961, Eisenhower and Decatur High had an exchange assembly. S.S.D.H.S. students came here and presented a nice show of talent. The acts were comical and the vocal and instrumental music was well rehearsed for such a wonderful display of musical ability.

SUMMARY

Who ate the fish, This question becomes a deadly omen as the passengers of a commercial airline discover food poisoning in the lunch served on the plane. First an old woman passenger begins to slump in her chair. Worst of all the co-pilot and pilot suddenly collapse leaving the plane on automatic instruments but with no way to land it.

Thus thickens the plot of FLIGHT INTO DANGER. As the audience sits tense in their chairs a hero is discovered who can perhaps get the passengers back to safety. George Spencer an ex-pilot of World War II, having flown much less modern planes, must suddenly be this nervous and uncertain hero.

We have a happy ending, though; and, thanks to a commendable performance, a happy evening.

"M.S. Seven Seas," the boat Bill took over.

Bill Uhler, Senior of this year, was chosen last years American Field Service Student. As he reminisced for us one day in assembly we gathered that he had an exciting and romantic stay in Germany. As you look at the pictures below you can close your eyes and imagine that you are with Bill as he traveled on the boat, at his German home, when he went sightseeing, and most of all meeting all the wonderful friends he met.

(The End)

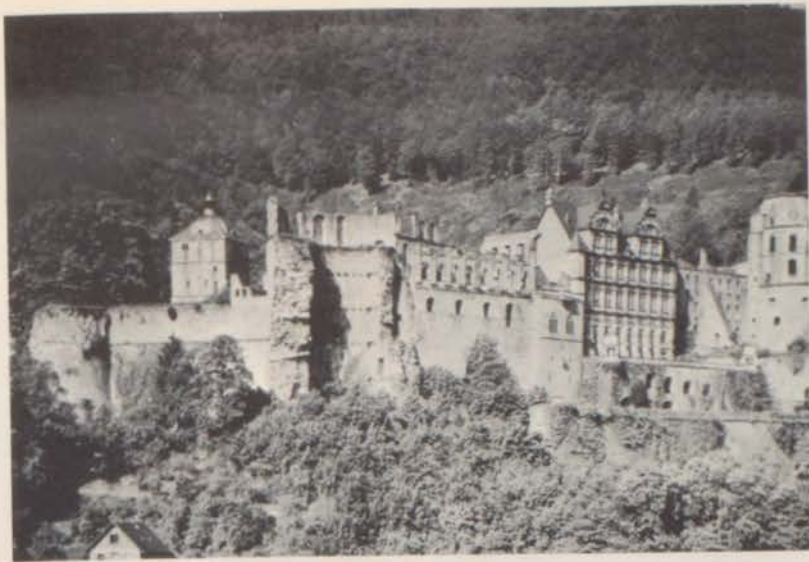

This is the first day on the "Waterman," the boat that Bill came back on.

AMERICAN

TOM EMCH

Tom Emch, our tall, blond A.F.S. exchange student this year, is from Zurich Switzerland. He has already spent a little over one semester as a resident not only of Eisenhower and Decatur, but of the United States as well, and he considers that this past semester was extremely worth while. It has also been worth while for us, for all of E.H.S.'ers know him as a friendly sort of guy, who's a very interesting conversationlist, especially when we consider the fact that he could speak only text book English

ANNUAL FOOTBALL BANQUET

The annual football banquet was held this year on November 15, 1961. In the cafeteria, the PTA served a fried chicken dinner for the football players, cheerleaders, and their families.

Later in the auditorium, awards were given to deserving players on each football team. Millikin University's Varsity coach, Mr. Shroyer talked on football as the best sport for developing character and fine sportsmanship.

E.H.S.'ers have their cake and eat it too.

VESPERS

Around Christmas all four Decatur high schools get together every year to present a beautiful vocal and instrumental musical for the colorful holidays. It was opened to the public, and they did enjoy the splendid music.

While here at Eisenhower, we decorated our rec-room; and our student body gave a lovely program with Christmas Carols that were sung in all the foreign languages taught here. The speech class gave choral readings to introduce the songs. We ended the program with "Silent Night" sung in five languages. The program was enjoyed by everyone and all of us went home with the Christmas feeling at heart.

Off we go!

SWEATSHIRTS AND EXAMS

After Christmas vacation the students minds were so preoccupied with exams that they decided that sweatshirts would be the thing to relax in while they studied for the BIG DAY and the neckties were just to make them look dignified. After all the studying, everyone? passed their exams, and all were happy with their grades.

BAKE SALE

BOMB SCARE

Bake sale after school! Yes, the Bake Sales have been one of the oldest, but the best way to raise money for our clubs at Eisenhower. They chose the right times of the day to sell their baked delicacies. This was in the afternoon or after school, but at any rate all the goodies were always delicious.

The bomb scare brought our second lunch period on our last day of semester exams, Friday, January 19th, to a halt for about fifteen minutes. And again on Thursday, February 1st, our fifth period was brought to a forty-five minute standstill. Most of the students weren't in favor of this unpractical joke.

Treasure candidates were Fran Powers, Pat McLoughlin, and Steve Bopp, Fran won.

There was a run off between Dona Wilson and Jackie Davin. The winner was Dona.

CARNIVAL TIME

Now is it one cup of salt and a teaspoon of sugar?

Which one is the dummy?

On Friday, February 2, 1962, the Student Council, working together with various clubs and organizations around the school, presented its very first Council Carnival! Last year, the PTA held a Mardi Gras, which was similar to this year's Carnival. Student Council has taken over the project now and will probably start a tradition for E.H.S.

Boy, was it ever a mess after school Friday!!! THOUSANDS (well, hundreds, maybe) of students and faculty members alike were running around the building, setting up booths and painting signs. At a little before 5:00, the PTA moved into the rec. room, and set up a food booth, complete with hot dogs, potato chips, hot chocolate, coffee, cake, popcorn, and YUM! The PTA also sponsored a cake walk in the rec room. Future Nurses Club had a candy sale, Jr. Red Cross sold popcorn balls. Like any carnival, the Council Carnival proved to be fun for all concerned. Club members will admit that it took a lot of work and planning, but the rewards were sufficient. The profit split for the Council Carnival was 25% to the Council, and 75% to the organization or club. In turn, Council hopes to use the money to help purchase a lettering device, which the whole school may use.

"Springtime for Dan," written by Anne Coulter Martens, had to do with high school boys and girls. Dan, one of the main characters, masqueraded as Bertha the house keeper when caught cleaning the house by the charming girl that lived next door. "Springtime for Dan" was directed by Jack Boyer. The cast were:

Dan Terry Sherman
 Amy Mary Sue Ford
 Mrs. Rodgers Yvonne Jones
 Mary Ellen Linda Winchester
 Walt Kevin Gallagher
 Peg Darla McCutcheon
 Jackie Marina Delfino

"The Gay Pretenders," written by Robert Sinclair, was a comic adventure of a young couple in Hollywood as they struggled for success. Mickey Marshall	Bob Baker
Helene	Jean McDowall

Outstanding Seniors of the Month

The Outstanding Seniors are selected in this manner:

- (1) The homerooms nominate as many seniors as they like each month based on achievements and contributions to the school in general.
- (2) The homeroom candidates are then screened and eliminated to four by four teachers and four seniors.
- (3) The prospective candidates are then presented before the entire Student Council with a picture of each one and votes for the boy and girl as the Outstanding Seniors for the month.

After the Outstanding Seniors have been chosen, they are honored by being introduced at an assembly, having a story about them in the paper, and having a special bulletin board for their picture and a list of their activities.

D.E. is a club in which students learn methods of selling, merchandising, procedures of make-up advertising and displaying goods.

Both D.E. and D.O. clubs can be found throughout the nation. They have a two day meeting to which eight representatives go from all over the state.

The objectives of the Diversified Occupations Club are:

1. To promote good fellowship and encourage opportunity for professional growth.
2. To promote and encourage co-operation between the schools, local industry, trades, and other services.
3. To promote and stimulate interest in trade, industrial, and service occupations.
4. To evacuate and organize instructional material.

All students enrolled in Diversified Occupations are automatically a member of this club. The club affiliates with the state industrial education club organization and in so doing is eligible to send two delegates to the state convention in Springfield each spring. This convention is for business conducted on the state club officer level. It is planned and carried out by high school students. The convention is held in the state capitol building in the chambers of the senate. Each spring the club participates with D.E. and O.O. in the annual employer-employee appreciation banquet. The club operates according to its constitution which provides for election of officers and the possibilities for a wide range of activities which would include social, service, and professional in nature.

Office Occupations is not just a club, but it offers the young girl who works three hours away from school in an office-training job some of the important social life which she would otherwise miss.

Similar clubs can be found throughout the nation. An annual convention is held with representatives from each club in the state enjoying new friends and learning more about the training necessary to become a successful secretary.

PHOTOGRAPHY STAFF

The purpose of the Photography Staff is to provide pictures for the PANTHERAMA and the PANTHER PRESS. The staff covers all of the usual school events including plays, musicals, assemblies, games and dances; they are ever-present when something interesting or newsworthy occurs. Many of the pictures which appear in the school publications are developed and printed by the members of this staff in the E.H.S. darkroom. Without them, the school yearbook would be impossible and the newspaper would be relatively uninteresting.

PANTHERAMA EDITORIAL STAFF

SEATED: Karen Noel, Mrs. McClintock (advisor), Shelly Lindsay (editor) Mr. Straub (yearbook representative), Mary Beth Davis, Tom

Ford, Tyler Cassidy, Etheldreda Sanders. STANDING: Sandra Pridemore, Bev Harnish, Phil Hazenfield, and Sharon Harmon.

MICHELE LINDSAY
Editor

The Pantherama editorial staff consists of ten students plus an advisor. They spend many hours planning, assembling, and revising to make our yearbook the best. The members of the staff must be a combination of artist, author, typist, printer, organizer, with an even-temper. We feel it is a privilege to serve on the staff. At the end of the year our hard work is rewarded by seeing our hopes and dreams finished and published in a bound book that will be read by students, parents, relatives, and in later years, be cherished memories.

PANTHERAMA BUSINESS STAFF

ROW 1: Nancy Pierce, Judy Stark, Erma Ryder, Sharon Suhl, Donna Gross, Mark Ragel. ROW 2: Mr. Schwalbe, Marsha Louwerse, Cheryl

Roennigke, Linda Schrimpsheer, Carolyn Treadway, Marilyn Thom, Tom Koslofski, Mike McDaniel.

MARK RAGEL BARB SKRINE
Business Managers

The purpose of the Pantherama Business Staff is to really keep the editorial staff in money. They have one advisor and thirteen students with a rough job of selling advertisements and taking subscriptions to make our yearbook one that everyone will be proud of.

Without the business staff there would be no editorial staff and without the editorial staff there would be no yearbook. We are all grateful for the wonderful job the business staff is doing and has done in the past years.

The PANTHER PRESS, our school newspaper, is composed of about 30 students and one faculty advisor. The main objective of the paper is to print the news of the school accurately and often. Special feature articles, along with picture stories and sports coverage, help to add student interest to the PRESS.

The work of the staff is varied greatly. The advertising staff, photography and art staffs, along with sports, feature, and news writers — all these appeal to the interests of many different types of people.

It is a hectic jumble of meeting deadlines, revising copy, and soliciting advertising, but it is a worth while one to those who put out the PANTHER PRESS.

Rebuilding keyed the 1961 Panther football squad as only 5 lettermen returned from the fine 1960 team. Led by captain Chuck Winings, the Panthers finished the season with a 3-6 record. Winings, Gary Fear, and Bob Myers earned All-City recognition. Three losses at the start of the year were followed by inter-city victories over Stephen Decatur and St. Teresa, thus continuing Panther domination of city foes. Consecutive wins by Danville Schlarman and Bloomington were halted by a 19-12 decision over Springfield Lanphier.

Homecoming ended the 5 year victory string over city rivals as an excellent MacArthur eleven defeated the Panthers for the first time, 23-14.

Despite the loss, an optimistic note appears with the return next year of ten lettermen plus an excellent nucleus of sophomores. With the rebuilding finished, the way once again appears to be the road to the top.

CLASS NIGHTS

1st PLACE — JUNIORS

2nd PLACE — SENIORS

One of the main purposes of class night is to provide an outlet for individual class competition in demonstrating their school spirit and enthusiasm during basketball games. The four classes, from Freshmen to Seniors, each have a separate night devoted to the exhibition of their talents and school spirit.

Judged by their posters, color scheme, and half-time programs, the classes compete against one another for the plaque which signifies the winner of the year. The following awards were presented as follows: Juniors — First Place, Senior — Second Place, Freshmen, — Third Place, Sophomores — Fourth Place.

BAND CONCERT

This year the band concert was a success in all ways: those who went enjoyed the music and those who put it on enjoyed presenting it.

Sing along with who?

ASSEMBLIES

Our assemblies, brought to us by different people from different places, meant more to students than an opportunity to get out of classes. Although some were more lively than others, all of them were well presented and very much appreciated.

OOH-LA-LA

On March 30 and 31 the annual E.H.S. musical, Portraits de Paree was given by a combined effort of the Music, Art, and Home Economics departments. The musical was very enjoyable — the theme based on Paris and the excellent acting that was done.

This is a fine time to find it doesn't fit.

PROM QUEEN
ANNE WHITTINGHAM

Our 1962 Junior-Senior Prom was with Lakeview High School in our gymnasium. The theme of the prom was "Hello Young Lovers." Joe Burns and his dance band provided the music. Decorations carried out the theme by using huge paper hearts. Our Prom Queen was Anne Whittingham and crown bearer was Sharon O'Donnell.

After the Prom, the Senior post-prom was held at the Eldorado Bowl. There was plenty of food, fun, and bowling.
