Teresian salutes Sister Eugenia.

Sr. Eugenia has made a new beginning in her many-faceted life-a beginning that came with her retirement. Sister had been a study hall supervisor for several years at St. Teresa and gave it up last year. She now devotes her time to free-lance writing, a hobby in which she has had much experience. Her articles, short stories, and poems have been published in many magazines. The upperclassmen will always remember the willing assistance she gave them in English composition. Sister has been a member of the Ursuline Order for sixty-seven years and has taught for over sixty of them. Because of her great interest in the students of St. Teresa, the Teresian dedicates this yearbook to her and becomes one of the publications that print her work.

My Prayer For Each Of You By Sister Eugenia O'Laughlin, O.S.U.

May the Lord—
Bless the thoughts within your mind,
Touch your lips and keep them kind,
Forever flame your inner glow,
Keep your soul as chaste as snow.
Enlighten intellect and strengthen will,
Increase your wisdom, energy and skill,
Keep you ever loyal and fraternal,
Fix your eyes on things eternal.
Grant to you long length of days,
And cherish you in all your ways.

These Memories I Cherish

Young hands reaching out eagerly to assist me up the stairs.

Gay "Good mornings," or "Hi, Sister! How's your writing coming along?"

Young Galahads hurrying to pull down the shades or move my study hall desk out of the sun's bright rays.

Fair maids giving of their precious time to help decorate the room and keep it in good order.

Students pausing at the study hall door with a friendly grin and a wave of the hand.

Exciting assemblies made more enjoyable by the amazing self-control of the student body.

The echo of hundreds of "Thank you, Sister" for permission slips signed, or for some small favor granted.

Posters, attractive, humorous, or thought-provoking, announcing coming events; each testifying to the talents of the students at S.T.H.S.

The anticipation of victory at the bonfire and the excitement of the Homecoming Parade, with its highly significant floats. The hilarity created by the outlandish costumes of the Freshmen on Initiation Day.

The loyalty of students defending some school regulation or faculty member under criticism.

These I have chosen from countless memories of each of you.

I am delighted to find that you outstandingly exemplify the characteristics of Ursuline students the world over: Courtesy,

Loyalty and Courage.

These are memories of small things, yes, but Oh! so precious,
These and hundreds more, I cherish.

Sister Eugenia O'Laughlin, O.S.U.

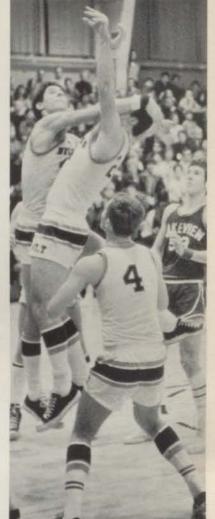

We've only just begun to live.
White lace and promises,
A kiss for luck and we're on our way.
We've only just begun.

Before the rising sun--we fly.
So many roads to choose,
We start out walking and learn to run.
And yes, we've just begun.

Sharing horizons that are new to us, Watching the signs along the way, Talking together, just the two of us, Working together day by day, Together . . .

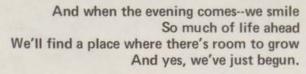

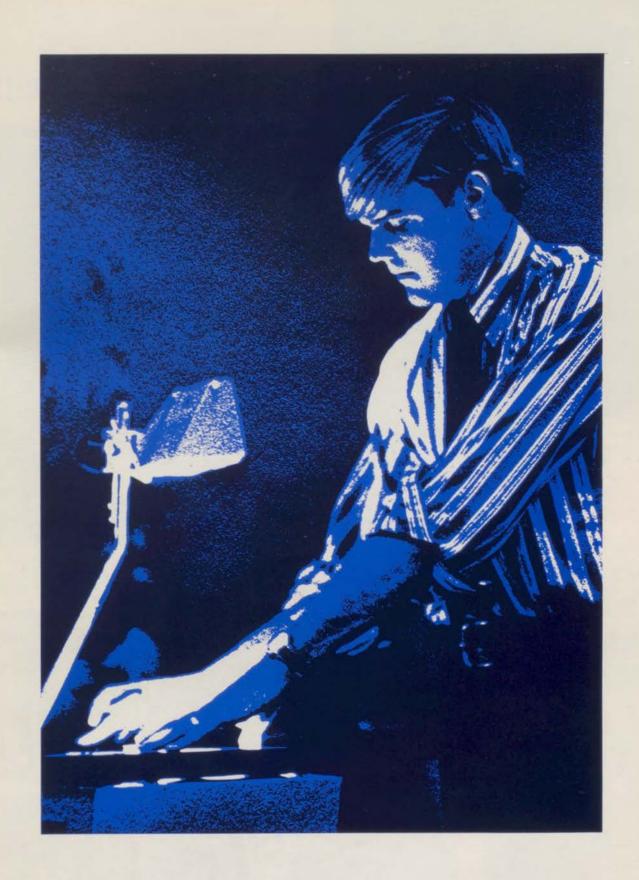

FACULTY

Sr. Catherine, our principal, gives a message to Mod Squad member Penny Bernotas: "Tomorrow, Tuesday, will be Day 5. We will be on short assembly schedule. All in ERC mods 3, 7 and 9 go to library." Got that? Modular scheduling has kept Sister super-busy!

Mrs. Renner, secretary, is never too busy to help any faculty member or student in distress. Her specialty is tracking down lost students, lost classes, lost rooms and even lost teachers!

It's lunch time in the faculty room. Mrs. Sorensen, Mr. Munn, Sr. Ancilla and Mrs. Renner share some lunch, a few comments as to how the day's going and a few laughs. The faculty room is the former kitchen which was transformed by the Booster Club.

Our "mod" faculty

Education is man's going forth from cocksure ignorance to thoughtful uncertainty. This year we experienced the uncertainty anyone experiences when taking a first step. Modular scheduling--a whole new way of school life. But this step was taken, and we went forward.

A favorite teacher, Sr. Marie Therese is also superior of the convent. She teaches algebra and points out to the class the joy of an equation that finds itself equal-and the joy of a math student who is equal to anything and well-balanced on both sides.

is mind-expanding.

In the math resource center Mr. Lux corrects papers from his geometry and algebra classes: a familiar sight in passing the MRC.

A new beginning every year: new students with old problems, old students with new problems--and a lot to teach. There is reward: to see the look of understanding flow over the face of that uncomprehending chemistry student. And challenge: to watch the geometry brain who keeps one step ahead of you. And tribulation: the English class who swear they've never heard of gerunds. A teacher begins a new life each day--with higher hope and greater effort.

To learn and never be filled is knowledge; to teach and never be weary is love. Mrs. Vest, unwearied, motions to the alto section to soften their voices as she practices a selection with her chorus class

Sr. Virginia Marie looks over some work her English classes did and shares the pleasure with Leslie Hannapel.

Photographer? Where?? Nina Robinson and Cathy Winters check on hall activity outside the door of the business resource center.

Although not part of the faculty, Mr. Kelly, in charge of maintenance, plays a vital role here.

Aware that we are constantly called upon to create our own future, Patti Ross settles down to some creative studying.

During a small group session, Sr. Sue Anne enjoys an amusing moment with her Sophomore English students. "Julius Caesar" will never be the same--neither will the Sophs! Sister also teaches freshman religion and electives to juniors and seniors.

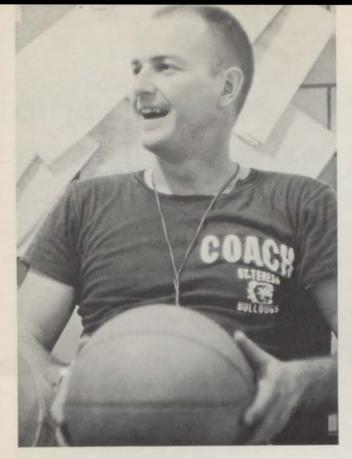

Introducing a man who makes history himself, but who also teaches American history. Lecturing to a large group class of 90 students, Mr. Munn even makes the constitution exciting. Well, at least tolerable.

Mr. Romer, with his favorite object in hand, relaxes after PE

Perusing some typing done by a student in one of her classes, Sr. Ursula allows no margin for error. If you don't have speed and accuracy, you're not the perfect type-IST. Accounting and business math also demand Sister's attention--and her patience.

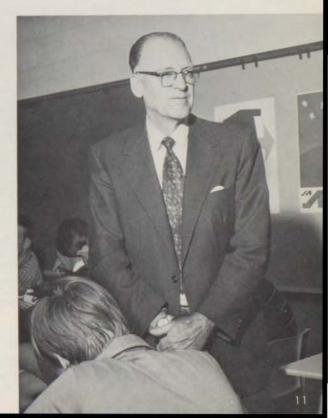

classes. Put a globe in his hands-PRESTO-world history teacher.

"To be or not to be--!" So what is the question? Sr. Marie, English teacher, confounds her advanced seniors with whirlwind courses in English lit and gets her freshman Latin scholars on their way toward Caesar's Gallic Wars. Sister also teaches religion electives to juniors and seniors.

Mr. Hirons, surveying his domain of study hall in 209-210, supervises many study mods through the daze. Daze 1,2,3,4 and 5. As a change of pace, he also teaches world history to a section of freshmen.

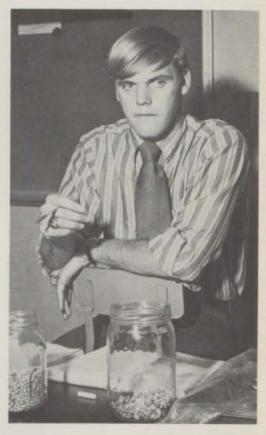

Sr. Anita, religion teacher, supervises studies in the religion resource center as Angie Beck gets down to work.

A teacher is a walking supersonic radar who tunes you in just when you tune out. A teacher is someone you try to psyche out before YOU get psyched. A teacher is someone who puts the most important part on the blackboard where the light glares and it's a test and you can't move. A teacher is someone who will listen and maybe not yell.

Reaching out

"All right, who took the snake?" Mr. McMullen conducts biological investigations of a different sort in the lab. "No, the snake was NOT last seen wearing orange and blue sneakers."

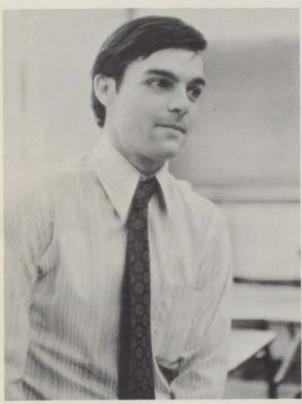

We keep smiling-it makes people wonder what we've been up to! Lunch capers include Karen Rohman, Karen Benjamin, Tim McElroy, Patti Lampkin and Jenny Boland.

searching for the answers to why!!!

Mr. Howley ponders a question while teaching world history

Mrs. Ahola, what's that jungle on your desk? Not really enveloped by a jungle, just busy at work correcting papers in the cheerful BRC, Mrs. Ahola enjoys living fresh green things as much as she does her shorthand, office practice, typing and consumer ec. classes.

Sr. Margaret acted as assistant librarian and supervised studies in various resource centers.

LEFT: Holding an informal discussion on design, Mrs. Hays, teacher of art and combined arts, listens to comments by her students.

Sr. Marilyn, at work in the RRC, teaches much religion, geometry and introductory algebra.

"A little less talk and a little more study, please." Mrs. Munn supervises with a smile during cafeteria study.

The greatest frontier lies within:

God made the world for this moment, and we're on the brink of heaven knows what discoveries. Sr. Clotilde helps some of her students in the chemistry lab. She also teaches religion and is counselor.

Lecturing on the sacraments to the sophomores, religion teacher Sr. Colette uses the overhead projector so that what she says DOESN'T go over their heads! Sister also teaches biology.

The wise teacher says, "There is nothing I can give you you do not have, but there is much that while I cannot give you, you can take: No heaven can come to us unless our hearts find rest in today. Take Heaven. No peace lies in the future which is not hidden in this present instant. Take peace. The gloom of the world is but a shadow; behind it, yet within reach, is joy. Take joy. Take with you words, strong words of courage, the words: 'I live'."

Familiar to everyone who uses the canteen is Mrs. Henning. Without her services most of us would go hungry—I it is an open mind.

A difficult task in today's world is to take Christianity as Christ preached it. Fr. Weerts discusses Christian values and principles in his class.

Mrs. Sorensen listens to a question from one of her fluent Spanish enthusiasts during classtime.

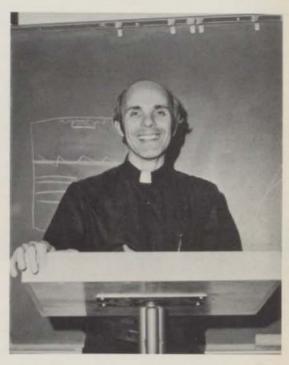

In her stunning gym suit Julie Stauder checks out a problem with PE teacher Mrs. Millard.

All people smile in the same language. Sr. Celeste helps Frances Williams and Francie Hayes to discover new modes of expression in the language resource center. Sister teaches Latin, German and French, and is an expert mender of tapes!

Sr. Ancilla, librarian, welcomes anyone who needs assistance. Her warmth and cheery outlook on life make the library one of our favorite places.

The true vocation of man is to find the way to himself. Convinced of this and with typically friendly grin, Fr. Peradotto lectures on the good news of salvation to one of his religion classes.

Working outside the math resource center during late August, Sr. Jane Frances helps get school ready for the new year. She teaches Algebra I and II and Math IV. Because she demands much, her classes really learn.

ACTIVITIES

Home is where the spirit is -- St. Teresa.

"The happiest journey is the trip home . . ." Home to flowers and friends and memories. Home to watch the record-breaking Bulldogs walk all over Lakeview. Home to floats and a Gay Nineties dance. A bonfire in the cafeteria? You bet! A bonfire kindled by the kind of spirit-fire that rain can't dampen. The suspense surrounding selection of a queen, cheers for the team, sweat and toil over floats, and the paraders' exuberance gave evidence to that spirit. Homecoming isn't an event--it's a feeling and an expectation and a security. And it's all here. Welcome home.

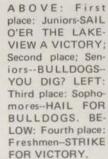

On Paradel Queen Tere Lee with court: Nancy Grimes, Ann Bennyhoff, Donna Clark, and Chris Reedy.

The Queen and her Flanker: Tere Lee with proud escort Kevin Boaz.

Her smile proclaims the joy Tere Lee felt as she was crowned by past queen Sue Bennyhoff. She had cause to smile--a spirit-filled pep assembly, a gleeful parade, a victorious game, and a beautiful dance to end it all.

"A kiss for luck." Donna Clark and Greg Hartwig

"A moment to ourselves." Ann Bennyhoff and Dan Doyle

Power Structure STHS!

These three student council officers worked untiringly to make St. Teresa High School "the best high school in the state." The council stacked up a lot of accomplishments this year-modular scheduling, successful magazine drive, Homecoming and other dances, new microphones for the gym and more improvements which marked their terms of office. At right, Vice-President Pat Scholz, Secretary-Treasurer Lisa Heneghan and President Ken Kraudel get together in the P.A. room. Below left, Lisa-known for reliability and selfless hard work. Below right, Pat-disguising his winning smile that brightened many occasions. Bottom, Ken--a gentleman, dedicated to the students of St. Teresa High.

Mission Club spotlights service.

Combine unselfish sharing with the true spirit of St. Teresa, and what do you get? A Mission Club that does what most people never get around to doing. This club has built an image for the whole school to be proud of. On the next few pages what can't be put into words can be seen through pictures. The Mission Club concern was first shown by delivery of Thanksgiving dinners to the elderly and again by a nursing home Christmas party. Mission Club members played a large part in the organization of Christmas and Easter parties for underpriviledged children, and smaller, but equally important roles at monthly Progress School parties. The club's biggest project was a brand-new Service Day which provided quite a change from traditional Mission Day carnivals. Every beginning involves risk and the results of this beginning are proof of a risk well taken.

Who works harder than a yearbook editor? FOUR yearbook editors, of course! Sports editor Dan Wilcockson, Teresian's answer to Bob Falstrom, keeps tabs on the finesse of our teams, while Clubs and Activities editor Carla Hahn works day and night and night and day to keep tabs on all our happenings. Editor Mary Rudolph keeps tabs on both of them, while Class editor Sue Bradley gets to know the features of each and every St. Teresa student. Who works harder than four editors? A yearbook advisor! Sr. Sue Anne encourages, prods, and censors the yearbook staff besides driving her own self to distraction.

Nearer to suicide than I was at the beginning of the year, I now leave the position of Teresian editor with both regrets and relief . . . but mostly relief. Being an editor means losing 14 seniors and finding them in the bottom of your locker, late hours at work during a thunderstorm with a class editor who's afraid of lightning, regretting to inform your publisher that the next shipment will be a few months late, having two brothers who won't speak to you because they're embarrassed by your P.A. announcements. But there is a bright side to being an editor. A year ago, I couldn't spell, type, draw layouts, or take pictures. Now I still can't, but by the time this yearbook comes out, I should be safely out of the country. I console myself with the fact that "year" and "book" are fourletter words and so is "quit."

> Mary Rudolph Editor-in-Chief

Editors are part martyr, part murderer, and part magician. Mary Rudolph qualifies on all three counts. Everything is dead at meetings, till she, Hurricane Mary, blows in, and then whirlwinds of work magically get done, with lots of laughter in between the blood, sweat, tears, and picture captions.

The American Field Service Club increased its size this year. AFS fought and won the fight for foreign friends. Last year it was doubtful that a foreign student would come to St. Teresa, but the AFS Club raised the funds and worked out details so that Steinar Mejlander-Larsen could come from Norway. With spring came two new approaches to traditional St. Teresa happenings. This year's style show-boutique was held at the K. of C. Hall instead of St. Teresa gym. Students could eat lunch there--another first. The annual Chorus Spring Concert was sparked by the addition of three dance groups--folk, modern, and jazz--which made it a real "cabaret."

Energetic folk dancers "kick up their heels" at the spring concert.

Pep Club boosts Bulldogs.

Led by Mrs. Beck, the Pep Club outdid themselves this year. These girls out-shouted, out-stomped, out-clapped all other Pep Clubs in STHS history. Never did a game day dawn, without a profusion of posters sprouting on walls and lockers and windows and doors and ceilings and bodies. Cakes and cookies were given players to bolster their morale and appetite for victory. Bulldog Day marked a first for Pep Club, as did Munn Day and Romer Day. Without the support of these Bulldog backers the record-breaking teams would have traveled a rough road to victory.

The St. Teresa football story is really a story of beginningbeginning to dream the impossible dream, and then striving to make it come true. Let's start at the real beginning-

THE BULLDOG STORY

(a real-life fairy tale that's almost too good to be true!)

Once upon a time there was a little Catholic school in Decatur, Illinois. It was called St. Teresa. This little school had a heap big football team with lots of crazy dreams, like joining the Okaw Valley Conference and becoming the champs. They wanted to break their old school records and even break the new records that last year's team had set! They thought they could show everyone just how great a little school can be. Of course, everyone thought that those Bulldogs were in for a real let-down. But stubborness, determination, and just plain skill were overabundant on this team of dreamers. Soon people began to take them seriously--after they won their first six games!! Speculation began to arise about whether or not the Bulldogs had a fairy godmother helping them on the side. However, the Bulldogs proved that they were only human by losing their seventh game to Monticello, another "little" school. Everyone was eager to see the Bulldogs take on Sullivan in the Conference Championship game.

"Spirit is when your hands and lungs keep on working when your head says it can't be done . . ." And have we got that spirit? Yeah man!

Mike Boyd, alias "Gumbo", was named All-City, All Conference Quarterback. Mike completed 64 of 126 passes this year for 946 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Kent Hensley lets loose with one of those kicks that helped makes us great.

Mark Bushell demonstrates what "UPSET" really means!

Jim Skeffington, All-City Defensive Halfback. Jim was an important part of the Great Red Beast this year and we'll hate to see him go. Good luck, Jiml

Kevin Boaz, All-City, All-Conference, All-State Offensive End, who got "off the ground"!

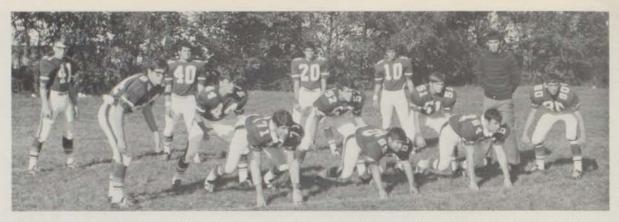

The Big Green Machine won its second straight city scoring title this year, rolling over its opponents by the lopsided sum of 224-64!

Big, Bad, BOSS!!

What a night that was! St. Teresa, the little school with the big dreams, shut out Sullivan and the first of its dreams came true--they were top dog! The Bulldogs finished up the season in style by beating Mt. Zion, and the second of their dreams came true. They had broken the old records and given the school its best season ever--8-1!!! Everyone was overjoyed, especially the Bulldogs, because they had shown that good things do came in small packages! Needless to say, they all lived happily ever after (at least until next football season!).

Baseball Bulldogs Burn, Baby!

ROW 1: G. Bernard, G. Vodde, M. Heffernan, K. Reynolds, J. Skeffington, P. Althoff, C. Bundy, R. Lowe, D. Delatte, R. Robinson. ROW 2: Coach Romer, P. Schaefer, M. Boyd, T. Feather, R. Forbes, C. Guess, P. Scholz, P. McElroy, M. O'Connell, K. Boaz, K. Hensley, Coach Howley.

The baseball Bulldogs finished the season with a 10-5-1 record. Pat McElroy, the team's hottest hitter at .365, was voted Most Valuable Player. Pat Scholz led in RBI's with a batting average of .320. This year the Bulldogs were inspired by the presence of bat girls Lisa Heneghen and Cay Ziemer who helped to raise the scores.

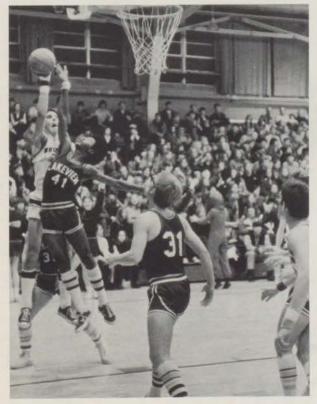

For the first time in seven years, St. Teresa sponsored a Frosh-Soph baseball team. Although they played only three games, they ended up with a winning 2-1 record. With untiring devotion, Mr. Howley led the new team to its two victories.

ROW 1: R. Robinson, D. Pierceall, M. Brinkman, J. Rudolph, B. Arseneault, P. Reedy, R. Forbes, P. Althoff. ROW 2: Coach Howley, D. Delatte, G. Bernard, T. Feather, S. Higar, M. O'Connell, C. Guess, C. Bundy.

Can you guess which picture is not a picture of a basketball game? Would you believe they are all pictures of a golf team? This page was planned for the all-new St. Teresa golf team who took second place in the Okaw Valley Golf Tournament. But the camera was off par, and thus handicapped, we had to settle for these pinch-hitters (as Cay Ziemer would say).

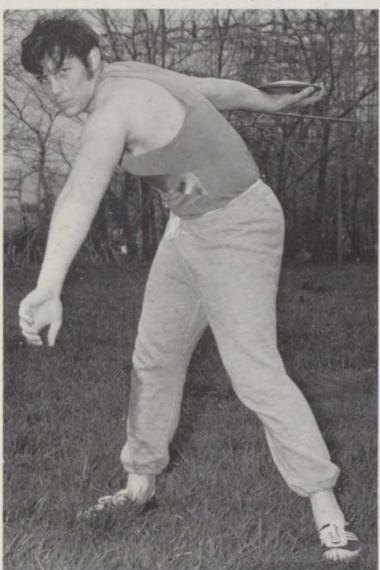

ABOVE: BACK ROW: Coach Munn, D. Wilcockson, B. Norton, T. Newman, D. Barr, J. O'Connell, D. Doyle, M. Gaffron, M. Bushell. MIDDLE ROW: M. Doyle, J. Jackson, P. Doyle, B. Hayward, K. Kraudel, T. Miller, J. Feriozzi, FRONT ROW: M. Mundy, P. Reedy, B. Shiel, U. Cabrera, J. Behnke, K. Laughery. AT RIGHT: Jim Feriozzi and Mark Bushell take their marks. BOTTOM: Low hurdlers John O'Connell, Dave Barr, and Tom Miller leap.

This year's track team made new records in the discus throw, 880 relay, and high hurdles.

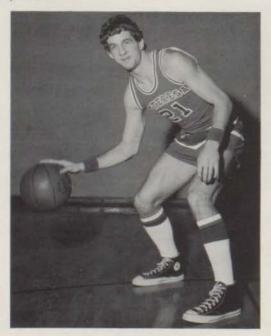

COUNTER-CLOCKWISE: Record-breaking 880 relay team "burning up the field." Another record-breaker, discus thrower Dan Doyle. Broad jumper Jackie Jackson is up, up and away.

They'd run a mile for a record!

They've got finesse.

Coach Dick Romer with some reminders of a memory-packed, glory-filled season. Thanks, Coach!

Kevin Boaz, 5'11" guard, hams it up for the photographer.

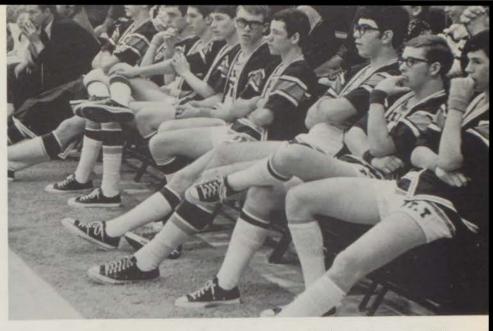

"Fish" goes all out in demonstrating that basketball isn't just for the big guys. And did he ever show us!

Do you remember back a couple of pages when the Bulldogs, the little team with the big dreams, first appeared in a fairy tale? Those "big-dreaming" Bulldogs are about to make their second fairy tale appearance. Read on: Twice upon a time, in that little town of Decatur, dwelled a super basketball team. They too thought they could take the Okaw Conference Championship. Victory was their favorite meal and they never went hungry. When the smoke cleared, another dream had come true for those Bulldogs. They finished the season with a 23-3 record, and a grand total of 2,073 points! Dave Fisher was responsible for 559 of those counters and Tim Newman backed him up with 503. The Bulldogs broke three records this year: consecutive wins--20; total points by an individual--Fisher 52; total game points--121. They broke 100 three times, and never scored less than 60 points in a game. How can they help but live happily ever after?

BUI

This is a multiple choice question-What is this a picture of a.) a sneak preview of the "Boys in the Band" b.) the contestants for the SCUM king contest c.) a water-polo-team from Poland, or d.) a super-tough basketball team that finished the season with a 23-3 record?

Tim "Sticks" Newman, 6'7" center. No, Tim is not lying down on the job. We had to print this picture sideways to get all of his stately stature on the page.

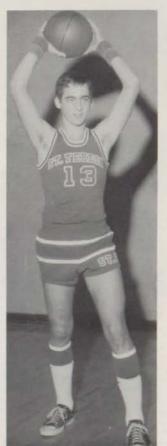

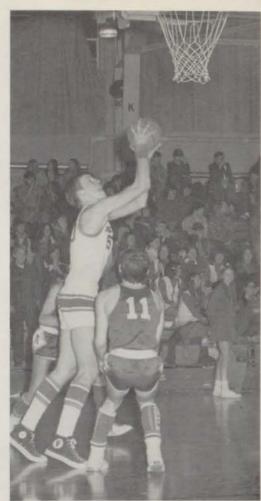

Dave "Fish" Fisher, 5'9" guard. All city first team, Galesburg AP first team, all state special mention.

Mike Boyd battles for the ball.

Rick Forbes, 6'3" sophomore forward, at it again,

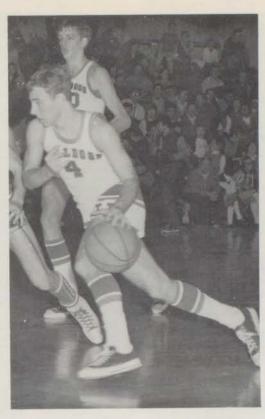

Sticks is at it again! He scored 27 points that night,

Winnie Reynolds, all alone, as he racks up another two points for the mighty Bulldogs.

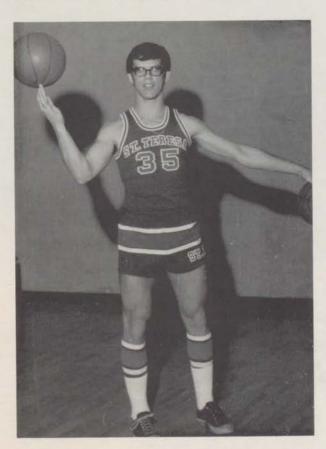

Pat McElroy, 6'0" guard, up for a layup.

Dave Fisher heading in for another sure-fire two points in the game against Arcola.

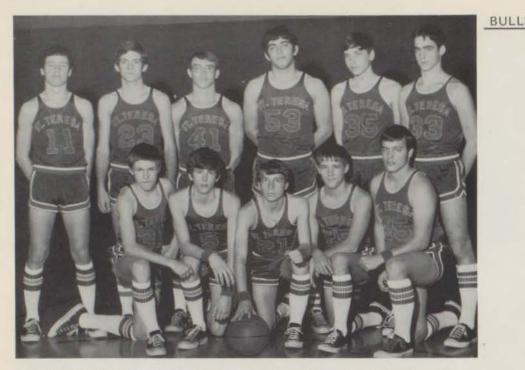

John Chizevsky, 6'4" forward, All city honorable mention.

Mike Boyd, 6'2" forward, displays a little "Bulldog finesse".

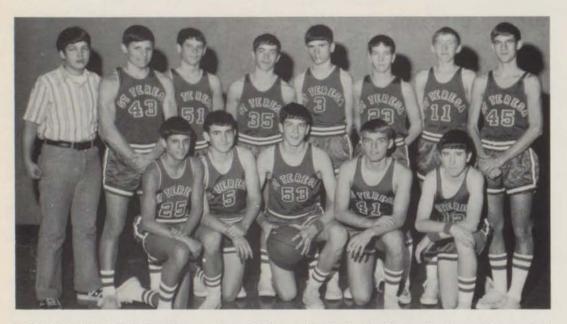

Look, in the sky! It's a bird! It's a plane! It's a . . . basketball?!?

CLASSES

Freshmen begin to begin.

CLASS OFFICERS: Secretary-Treasurer Sue Brinkoetter, and President Angy Beck

They've only just begun. Seeing old friends and making new ones . . . taking on new responsibilities and moving ahead toward tomorrow while trying to keep up with today. Freshman year-never easy but always fun: Frosh initiation, basketball tournament champs, algebra I, homecoming float, St. Teresa Get Acquainted Day for eighth graders, proof to everyone that they're not so small. Frosh wonder if they'll ever make it. But they will, because they're unstoppable--and they've only just begun.

Fun for all as Frosh frolic and fume!

"We grow up the day we have our first real laugh at ourselves." If this is true, the freshmen certainly matured on their initiation day. They were not the only ones who benefited from the events of that day. The brave lad who dared to roller-skate on the gym floor, the pillowless Fats Albert, the daisyhead twins, and the greaser with blacked-out teeth perked up the whole school. Torments were borne goodnaturedly and complaints were never uttered. Cheerfulness goes a long way in this world, and the freshmen have it. We're with you freshmen!

CLOCKWISE: Best-dressed-Dolores Elam and Joe Wilcocksen; Amy Beck and Penny Bernotas at the mike; "Frito Bandito"--Angy Beck; The Tricycle Gang--Kevin Laughery, Mary Sebern, Debbie Taylor, and Sue Tyrolt; Beauties--Mariann Kramer and Maggie Boehm.

Sophomores share new horizons.

They're still just beginning . . . knowing what's going on, struggling through biology, feeling the initial shock of dissecting slimy green frogs, learning to drive, realizing car insurance IS necessary, and that so is wisdom. The class of '74 showed that "wise fools" never give up and that they can tackle anything from modular scheduling to a Valentine's dance to those great "spirit posters" during football and basketball season. Sophomores--big, bad and just beginning to be boss.

Ring Day -- a first for Juniors.

With enthusiasm, the class of 1973 received their class rings. They had reason to be enthusiastic. It was the first time ever that a class received their rings in the junior year. Just another example of the inborn determination possessed by the Class of '73. BELOW CLOCKWISE: Margaret Lewis stirs memories of St. Teresa experiences. Ann Clements admires her ring. Pat Smith talks of past accomplishments.

Fr. Colling blesses Barb Bean's treasured class ring.

Juniors paying attention in class?

Juniors have so much of life ahead.

CLASS OFFICERS: President Cathy Heneghan, Vice-President Pat Smith, Secretary Debbie Ochs, and Treasurer Nina Robinson.

The beginning seems distant now. As upperclassmen, the Juniors have come a long way since the "wild" days of freshman year. Their ever-present unity can be seen in all they do or attempt-homecoming float, candy sale, senior prom. They tackled even bigger jobs--chemistry, chemistry, chemistry. And more chemistry. For the first time ever, this is the year of the junior class ring. And with the ring comes the realization that the beginning is indeed very distant.

SENIORS

In the end is the beginning.

Class Representatives: Margaret Alsup, Phil Smethers, Jenny Boland, Mary Ann Ward.

The beginning has ended. And yet for Seniors a new beginning has begun. So many roads to choose--college years, army fatigues, the great job opportunity, and that great commodity--Life. The beginning of the end was signaled by Ring Day, Senior play, class trip, and Awards Day. But the end did not come until Graduation. Graduation is not abrupt; rather, it is gradual-which means it requires a beginning, a middle, and an end. Seniors have seen them all. But there's so much of life ahead. And yes, they've just begun.

Class Officers: Secretary-Treasurer, Ann Bennyhoff; President, Dan Doyle; Vice-President, Mary Rudolph.

We learn to join hands today.

Fr. Peradotto gives rings to Rose Boehm, Tom Dawson.

Ring Day is a branching out and a starting of a new kind of life--not really an ending but a beginning. We remember watching the last minutes of the MacArthur game tick away, then piling onto the field to congratulate the champs; suffering through those last minutes in chemistry class, wishing time would fly. These memories and so many others make the Class of '72 a special class which knows "It's a long way from sunrise to sunset."

"We start out walking and learn to run." Maybe we have learned to run in these four years. But somehow, we don't want to run yet.

Master of Ceremonies Fr. Weerts pauses in his introduction.

Graduation evening was sorrowful, joyful. It marked the beginning of a new life for everyone. The world beckoned; the graduates answered. They made their choice of roads. Some will follow long and winding roads, while others will travel short, direct routes. Good luck to each graduate on each individual road. And at the end of every road, may each one find peace.

Lisa Heneghen, valedictorian, reminds the graduates that they "are not yet in the peace of the done."

Mary Rudolph, salutatorian, tells Commencement audience that "understanding is possible only through doing."

Fr. Daniel Collins, an alumnus and religion teacher of St. Teresa, reflects before his speech to the future "world citizens."

Frs. Peradotto and Treacy handle the weighty matter of distributing diplomas.

Peace--a Beginning
I am the ocean
Lit by the flame.
I am the mountin
Peace is my name.
I am the river
Touched by the wind.
I am the story;
I never end.
